

Q Do you remember when he died, Mr. Emery?

A I don't remember.

Q About when?

A I don't remember the date. It is a matter of record in the court proceedings I presume. I think the inventory of his estate was entered in the proceedings.

Q In 1917, however, Mr. Hubbard was alive at that time?

A I don't know that.

Q You don't say he was not living?

A I don't say he was not living.

Q Have you got any paper there by which you can refresh your recollection as to when he died?

A I say it is probably in that published account. I don't remember ever seeing it there, there are some two or three hundred pages of that.

Q Would the inventory of his estate show that?

A (Witness examines paper). I remember the inventory was tendered, it may be it was stricken out. It might be it was not accepted. If you will be kind enough to refresh my memory,

Q That book does not stand very high with me.

A The Demerara parties being parties to the suit ought to know as much about it as I do.

Q If you want to leave that we will go on to something else.

A I am afraid it will take considerable time to look it up.
