

Q Any others?

A Another Brown, the lawyers never go single handed down there. They have to go in pairs. I don't remember his initials.

Q On that theory the case was tried and won?

A Correct.

Q That theory was necessarily that Humphreys had no valid option so that he could not sell either to you or to the Demerara Bauxite Company or anybody else in the world, because he was handling that property impressed with a confidential relationship, was that right?

A Yes.

Q Now with that being done you went direct to the widow and got an option on these same properties in July, 1919?

A That is correct.

Q At what price?

A Twelve thousand dollars, as I remember it.

Q And you paid that money and you got the property?

A The money was paid after the lawsuit was settled and the title passed to me.

Q And the property was transported I believe, to use the technical language of the learned counsel to your client?

A Yes.

Q That is the whole story about this lawsuit?

A As far as I remember, in answer to the questions which you asked.
