

A It was.

Q Well where did you see Mr. Davis ?

A I saw him in his office in New York.

Q When?

A I don't remember the exact date, but I presume it was late in January or very early in February.

Q In 1925?

A 1925.

Q And what did you say to him?

A We discussed the matter for some thirty or forty minutes; I can't recall the conversation at the present time; that was my answer to the counsel for the other side.

Q When you went into Mr. Davis' office that morning, did you say "Good morning, Mr. Davis"? Is that the way you walked in his office?

A I gave him the usual greeting.

Q "Good morning", and he said "Good morning" to you?

A Well I think it was "Good afternoon", because I think the appointment was for twelve o'clock.

Q Oh well, say you both said "Good Afternoon", when what did you say?

A I can't remember conversations running back that far.

Q You can remember so accurately it was five minutes to twelve?

A I Remember I was on time and Mr. Davis kept me waiting