

Q That is very well located, it is very cheap production?

A Exceedingly well.

Q And of course that deposit is commercially available deposit for anybody outside the Demerara Bauxite Company?

A Not at the present time.

Q Why?

A Because I understand an arrangement has been concluded between the Colonial Government and a syndicate of British bauxite associations to operate that property. I don't know the condition of that lease, or the purpose of it but I know such a lease or purchase has taken place.

Q These people can use it for making the bauxite for aluminum if they want to?

A The British aluminum Company is one of the parties to that syndicate.

Q They could use it?

A I do not see why they could not.

Q The American Aluminum Company, the Aluminum Company of America does not control the British Aluminum Company, does it?

A I am not competent to answer that question.

Q You don't say it does not?

A I don't say it does or does not.

Q At any rate, there is a commercial available supply of
