

Q That does not answer the question. Do you still consider you are competent to pass an opinion as to the amount of com-

United States.

A I will say I know more about the banknote situation than the average person or I may say the average engineer in the United States.

Q But you think you are an expert, competent to pass upon the question of the amount of available banknote in the world?

A I don't like the word expert. I admitted I have studied that I have studied them diligently. The question of whether the question of banknote deposits for the last thirteen years.

Q Your opinion, that they are?

A They are a matter of public record.

aren't they?

Q There is banknote in the United States; banknote in the United States; banknote in Europe. These are all known deposits.

A There is a great deal of banknote in the world.

Q Can't you recall. Then look here. I will ask you a question. Isn't there a great deal of banknote in the world?

A Would you mind reading it from the record, what I said this morning?

Q I want to know what it was we seem to have a little dif-