

March 20, 1913

Mr. E. B. Emory,

512 S. Jefferson Street,

Roanoke, Va.

Dear Sir:

I am afraid I cannot give you very much encouragement in regard to the check for $211.40. I have used every effort to collect the sum even to the extent of sending a slight draft against our client. They have gotten somewhat balky and I am now waiting Lloyd's return as I wish to have a council of war with him before making the next move.

As I wrote your mother, he called that he would arrive on the Germania on the 23rd, although according to the papers the boat is due in New York on the 22nd. He will probably write you upon his arrival.

With kind regards, I am

Sincerely,

WHE/F.