My Dear Emory

How come on the trotters.

I suppose you are busy making a trotter or racer out of Lord Russell. I sincere hope you succeed and that he may beat the old horse get a mark below twenty this season. I am trying to get some of our young men to send some mares down to him. I want to bring two three of them down this winter. I have one that live quit close to me. If I could get him down to your place once, he might do you some good, he has the money. Neighbor Whites folks are getting some of it. I see Walter of Baltimore
