

Almums throwing horses out of training is putting on hot shoes - thus causing wall & sole to separate accompanied by high heels which with hard soles and frogs is bound to produce contracted quarters & heels. My bro Alm's little "Molly Luskwood" formerly Spring in one shoe - since treated in my suggested is going long gaited apparently independent as to whether the footing be hard pine or soft dirt road. What one sees - must be believed - so in my case. As to contents of foot note am ignorant, but perhaps we can make some allusive connection that will answer the purpose - however will not bother about it for the present. What I have written has actually taken place - so I give it to you hoping - I am - maybe of service, at any rate appeal to my mare and I am convinced you will want it in future in preference to soaking & stuffing - so ahead and let me hear from you.

Yours Truly,

Richd Bromwell Jr.

I have seen Arthur - sold horse - now for present - would like to know if he is still stiff.
