

would have known what to do.
As it stood, he took the mare with understanding he was to drive her in the races, Not for board or training or anything else - However the damage is done, and I am struck by placing confidence in him.
I did not know he was under control of Cochran until too late.
As you say Cochran has the cash to fight with, and I have not; what I am worth is in such shape I can not realize on it.

I can not at this time say if I can take part in your prospective race, as I am very much unsettled.
I could probably send you enough money to take Victor to Balt, and show him on track there if you have the time and
