Patapsco Maid and her colt, by Happy Russell, owned by Mr. John Green, of this city, was the centre of attraction. The old mare, who has been a matron for many years, looks well and hearty and is likely to be the mother of many more youngsters. The one she now has by Russell is a strong boned fellow and of excellent size. There is trot in his breeding and he should prove the star of the family.

Dear Sir,

If there'll be no links missing in my chain, I will be at your boat landing, on Saturday P. M., on Tuesday next, P. M., with either one or two mares, if you will kindly meet me, as you suggest.
I am coming myself, & will very likely stay a day or two with you, to see your farm, & see the young & the

Mr. E. B. Emory, Dr. Sir! - I know you are interested in fine stock & I take the liberty of sending you a card & this my card - If you should have any trotting at your farm between this & the day of Wednesday please post them but so visitors may see it & you will confer a favor -

Respectfully
E. B. Emory
