

Our draftsman is a little fellow with a very cheery disposition.
He is all ways jollying some one. And he always whistles two steps & things that have lots of jingle in them when he is at work. His name is Anderson. I do not know very much about him as he has only been with us a few weeks.
We only have one other man in our tent. He is the assistant topographer. His name is Albert Graw & he hails from St. Louis.
I think he came out here for his health. He is very small & not very strong. ^{It was} Only a day or so ago that he got out of the hospital. He has had a pretty bad attack of fever. & I am afraid he will have to pick up stakes & move to a higher
