My darling Alice,
Your letters of the 9th I found at the Hotel last night upon my arrival, and the one of the 13th received this morning - and they gave me great pleasure as I have been awfully anxious to hear from you. The two Harrys have slept more than once - for three places in the family circle listening to Red Rock - I am glad when the little lady has her head snapped - and feels no bad results - I really thought it should come off - as her scalp should be attended to - My cold has improved and I think it has about run its course -

I had a letter from Harry - and he said was awfully home sick when I left him - and it made me feel like going back - I guess you often think I am wrong to make the boys come home - I want to insist in them the son of the Home Head which I think every one should have - I am quite anxious to see them - I hope the man will cut enough wood to last you a season - Both sides of the letter paper cost the same - and I will ship you which ever you prefer - it is a question which is the most satisfactory to you - do you mean to say you have hired John Blake to commence work at once - or from March 1st
