It being requested ^{to me} that there are several Seamen and Marines on board the Squadron who are deemed proper objects for Survey

You are therefore hereby required and directed to repair forthwith on board His Majesty's Ship Albatross and there with the Assistance of the Surgeons of the Ships you respectively command, carefully to examine such Seamen and Marines as may be brought before you for that purpose, reporting to me from under your hands particularly on each person so produced to you whether you judge him to be totally unfit for further Service to His Majesty, or fit only for partial or particular Services or otherwise as their respective Cases may appear
