

which five
 rumbled. Captains with one hundred thirty of the
 my did not
 ce this force, Shore and most excellent
 went without
 Captain Carters
 the south side
 two hundred
 the House of being aware
 d into the woods

On

On the 14th We again landed on the South side, and burned a Tobacco Store and a House which the Soldiers had occupied — on the 15th the Narcissus joined and still keeping in view the probability that the Inhabitants would force the Flotilla out to protect them, I determined to proceed up the River with three divisions of Boats, the first consisting of five, commanded by Captain Watts, the second of three by Lieutenant Alexander, the third of three by Lieutenant Hornston, in these I embarked about one hundred and sixty Marines, and thirty of the Colonial Corps — I also took with me.