

Major - serving in His Majesty's Staff under your Command.

Although the conduct of Lieutenant Moran appears to me to have been irregular, & more than I consider than I think the Occasion called for, yet Sergeant Ingram has evidently committed himself by giving to you an untrue statement as to the length of the time he was kept in a Prison, and also when the Officer in Command of the Guard required of him to give a written statement as to his reason for putting a Man in Charge of his Guard, by not instantly complying without delay or hesitation, which as a good Soldier he must have known that he ought to have done, however incorrect he might have considered the prior conduct of the Officer

I have the honor to be Sir,
Your Obedient Servant
Signed J. Cockburn
Major
