At sea in the Chesapeake
The 12 December 1814

Left with Capt. Powell

Having directed the Tarragon to be sent to Bermuda & there placed under your Orders, I have to direct her Departure may be made given with as little delay as possible; and that you then cause her to relieve whatever ship you may have on the Island Defence duty, on which particular service you will be pleased to keep the Tarragon until you receive further Orders respecting her. Notwithstanding what is expressed in my former Instructions to you under date of the 25th Nov on the subject of releasing the Vigilant & Stationer.
