

Captain Genai who was posted by me on the right - the first lost one man killed and one sergeant and four privates wounded the latter two privates killed - The Company of artillery which so much distinguished itself on a former occasion behaved with no less gallantry to day and it affords me much pleasure to observe that the militia who came under my immediate notice and were attached to my command voluntarily or otherwise condu-ced themselves in a manner which reflects honor on them and their Country the highest honor Many before the battle requested to be posted near me and there was no instance where one offered to retire until I gave the order to retire and it was not necessary to repeat the order to rally - Captain Grayson of the Marines is a brave and zealous officer he had volunteered to come with his detachment under at Baltimore those Veterans who so much distinguished themselves under their gallant though unfortunate Commander at Bladenburg were all willing to try another battle they have been again unsuccessful but not less courageous two of them have fallen Captain Spencer of the U S Artillery second in command at Fort Washington
