without any injury to our brave fellows, who were then ordered off, and directed to return to our post at this place. - An order with which they very <sup>reluctantly</sup> complied. - The <sup>warrior</sup> officer remained to watch the motions of the Enemy, who for this morning returned, and reports from the best information he could obtain, that on the arrival at the head of the Creek they commenced by burning the small vessels lying there, they then landed and a party remained upon the point who employed themselves in removing the few lbs of tobacco which in a launch, & the rest under the water, or else into the water, or else to be consumed in the house, to which they set fire - In the mean time another party had proceeded up the Village, where they burned all the houses except that where the Doctor had his quarters with the store adjoining, and another immediately opposite they did not even spare the Negro's huts, or the hen houses and pig sty. - The Officer sagely enquired who fired upon them from the shore & upon being informed it was the <sup>same</sup> Florida men, it was like them, but they regretted they had not stayed a little longer. - They embarked with Barges about 6 o'clock in the evening, occasionally firing round of grape shot as they proceeded down. - There appeared to have been 10 Barges, and one schooner up the Cove. - An Officer is going down to reconnoitre, & inform himself of all the particulars relative to their proceedings while on shore.
