

The men have arrived and with the exception of a Sergeant's Guard, will act in concert with Fort Severn in the city

It is not improbable they may attempt something against this place, either by boats in the night, a direct attack by their shipping, or ascending the river on each side and attack the rear of the city

But their movements are for ever contradictory as usual -

Respectfully Yrs

W. D. Hook

Storr

Hon. W. M. Jones

Secretary of the Navy

Washington