Dear Doctor

Herewith you have a short communication headed "for the Med. Lib. Journal", a friendly expression of a difference of opinion.
Being too sleepy this hot afternoon to attend to any more important work, I thought I would scratch off a brief review of your last idea, which you can dispose of as you may think proper, either stick it into the Journal, or throw it under the table without giving the slightest offence, as the weather is too hot to quarrel.

On my return from Phil. I made no stop in
