treating him for gravel - Medicines at 6 P.M. I saw him, & left him in good hope of his speedy improvement; at 11 that night inflammation set in and he sank immediately and at the next day, he died. I was at Mocklin, having gone early in the morning, but when I heard of his increased illness I hastily returned. But found him "laid out" at his house at the station. - As soon as I arrived I wanted the Dr. to have a look at him, but he thought the morning of the body to the station, would prevent a correct judgment to be made.
The next day I urged Dr. [unclear] to go & visit the [unclear]
