SATURDAY, APRIL 19, 1913.

COURT next week.

A NEW chief of the weather bureau has been named and the sun came out bright the next day!

SCHOOLS in Cecil will close May 30th. Kent's commissioners meet Tuesday and will try to manage their finances so as to continue until about June 15th.

CHESTERTOWN'S stores are worth visiting. They are filled with goods of the newest and best and arranged in most artistic manner. Deal at home as much as possible.

THE Treasurer of Talbot says he has not a penny to pay county bills and refuses to give checks until some money is received for taxes. Kent is therefore not the only county without funds.

THE death of the Pope in Rome has been momentarily expected. Cardinal Gibbons is on his way to Rome so as to be present at the funeral and to participate in the selection of a successor.

THE edict has gone forth that the naval terms port and starboard are to be replaced by the more familiar appellations of left and right. Who'd a thought it?

J. HENRY BAKER, ESQ., as President of the Liquor License Board in Baltimore is reflecting credit on himself and his party by his positive stand against granting licenses promiscuously and without proper consideration. Over 20 saloons have been closed.

IT is reported that Mr. J. Frank Connelly will be pitted by Mr. Barroll agaiust Deputy Sheriff Startt as candidate for Sheriff. Mr. W. E. Brown, as the Organization candidate, is making friends every day.

MR. MARBURY'S reference to the KENT NEWS is certainly a compliment and is so taken. The articles heretofore appearing in these columns have evidently had a telling effect. Come again, Mr. Marbury.

Mr. Marbury is preaching against wealth, and his salary from wealthy corporations is said to amount to $20,000 per year! Oh, consistency, thou art indeed a jewel.

THE address by Hon. Hamilton Holt at Washington College Saturday evening was a rare treat. In one hour he gave the history of the progress toward "Universal Peace" and in a most interesting manner. It is a reflection upon this community that such a speaker should have had such a small audience. Let's wake up.

AFTER a session lasting nearly three hours the Maryland Agricultural board Thursday elected Harry D Patterson, director of the experimental station at the school, president of the college, succeeding Capt. R. W. Silvester, who resigned some time ago. Two ballots were taken before a choice was effected. The first stood seven for Patterson, four for Dr. H. A. Margan and three for Prof. A. B. Crocheron. On the second Mr. Patterson received 10 votes and Dr. Morgan four, the latter being cast by Gov. Goldsborough and Messrs. Crain, Skipper and Holtzapfel.

Wm. F. Malin Elected Councilor.

Kent County won the office of State Councilor of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics at the 44th Annual session in Hagerstown this week. Mr. William Malin, of this town was elected to this office. The order will meet in Baltimore next year. Messrs. Wm. F. Malin, Frank Elburn and Wm. Blyman were delegates from Chestertown and Chas. Porter, Wm. W. Clayton and Walter Byriers from Rock Hall. Messrs. Walter Bennett and J. Gale Usilton also attended the Convention.

Mr. Malin was presented a silver tea set by the Chestertown Council and a handsome pipe by the State membership.

MORE OF MR. MARBURY.

The NEWS last week promised to give its readers more FACTS as to the record of Wm. L. Marbury who says HIS EYES HAVE BEEN OPENED! It must be that they are opened to the Senate which he is now trying to reach. In his defense of his OCCASIONAL DEMOCRACY he requests that the voters forget it! How is it possible when he tries to prove his right to the votes of Democrats?

The explanation which Mr. Marbury attempts is far from consistent, to say the least, with his action in the year 1903. Is is very important to note his action in this particular year. It will be remembered that in 1882, 1883, 1885, 1886, 1887, 1889, 1891 and also in 1895, 1896, 1897, 1899, 1900 and 1901 Mr. Marbury was against the Democratic ticket. He says he was so because the primaries were not fair in Baltimore city. But in 1893 the primaries in Baltimore City were conducted by the same men and methods as in the years just named. Yet Mr. Marbury supported the ticket that year. Why? Because his personal friends, Bruce, Baer, Taylor and Johnson (then one of Grasty's editorial writers on the News) were put by a fit of Mr. Rasin's on the legislative ticket in the Second district of Baltimore city.

Nor was the Democratic State Ticket of 1907, which it pleased Mr. Marbury to support, nominated differently from the many Democratic State Tickets which it pleased him to oppose.

Nor is Mr. Marbury's opposition to the National Democracy and its National Tickets in 1896 1900 and 1908 explained or justified in the least degree by the fact that there was or was not a primary election law for Baltimore city. There is no relation between the two things; and excusing Mr. Marbury's opposition to Bryan in 1896 there is no excuse, from a Democratic standpoint, for his opposition to Bryan and his support of McKinley in 1900*; or for his failure to aid Bryan or his support of Taft, whichever was the case in* 1908. No honest Democrat would have opposed Bryan in 1900, and no Democrat with a spark of feeling would have been silent in 1908, as Mr. Marbury (was 1906)

Mr Marbury's answer, except as it may somewhat justify his opposition in some years to Democratic candidates for the City Council and other municipal offices of Baltimore, is no answer at all to the endictment which has been brought against him of consistent and persistent support of the Republican party and opposition to the Democratic party in repeated Legislative, State, Senatorial and Presidential electione.

The fact is that Mr. Marbury's course in the politics of Maryland and the nation squares exactly with his proiession of political faith (?) as quoted and described at different times by both The Sun and the News, namely that he BELONGED TO NO PARTY AND HAD NO POLITICS, BUT VOTED AT ALL TIMES AS HE PLEASED," to which the Sun added the following just comment: "THOSE WHO KNOW MR. MARBURY, KNOW THAT THIS IS TRUE."

MR. MARBURY A "SOCIOLOGIST."

To the Editor: William L. Marbury is the last man in the state to call himself a man of the people. He is a man of a clique, and all the "mixing" he can temporarily apply himself adroitly to is but for the deception of the people. Mr. Marbury is what is called a "sociologist." A sociologist is a rich man who belongs to a set bent on running the country according to their own ideas, with the people themselves not in it.

Sociologists are besieging our city councils, our state legislature and Congress. They are getting thousands of laws passed that call for extravagance paternnalism and tyranny. The general trend of their work is to make for discontent, strikes and revolution in the masses. It was supposed that the Socialists led in all that called for extravagance, paternalism and slavery, but the sociologists with their wealth and social backing, have completely cast them into the shade, and Socialists themselves have confessed to the power of the sociologists. Wiltshire's Social Magazine has been one to see through the work of the sociologists, whose official paper might be called the Survey, of New York. Wiltshire's has called upon all Sociologists to subscribe for and lay to heart the every utterance of this Survey, which it deems thoroughly promotive of Socialism.

Mr. Marbury can well call himself an "independent." All Sociologists are that. They care nothing for any party, save what they can make out of it. Vice President Marshall has well told us that Roosevelt, paternalism and Socialism are the country's three greatest perils, but we are now to see the sociologists take the place of the Socialists. They can run themselves into office easily enough, if the masses are to be cajoled by their "mixing" qualifications. Outside of a campaign they mix with nothing but their clique, and the will of a dozen of them they call "the will of the people." Let the people, and especially the farmers, be warned.

No Money For Roads.

Engineer Isaac Gibbs brought the matter of repairing bad places in the roads of Kent to the attention of the County Commissioner last week. He asked for permission to buy shells for certain bad pieces of road and to pay for same out of next year's levy, which begin in June. Here is the answer:

"The Board of Commissioners advised me to state to you, they could not grant your request under the law to allow you to spend money this year and pay it from the amount allowed for roads in the following year, as you know the year closes the first of each June, or shortly there after.

Respectfully Yours.
