HEALTH TO RED CROSS SEALS.

Red Cross Christmas Seals are the best investment in health and one can make. Science has demonstrated conclusively that tuberculosis, the world's greatest plague, of which we now have over 1,000 000 cases in the United States alone, can be preveuted if these consumptives are properly cared for, insures your life against tuberculosis by the prevention of further infection from that source.

Red Cross Seals help to provide hospital camps, sanatoriums, dispensaries, open-air schools and visiting nurses for the care, cure and prevention of tuberculosis in this community. Every seal you buy, then, is a sound investment in your own health and in that of your Red Cross Seals now and help to protect your home from disease.

If I Were Santa Claus.

If I were Santa Claus and might distribute things as I should please
I'd bring the sorrowing delight and hang on all the Christmas trees
That in my travels I should find
This little motto: "Just Be Kind."

If I were Santa Claus I'd bring the pessimist a hopeful heart,
So that he might cease murmuring and manfully perform his part;
I'd give to every lass and lad
The wish to make some other glad.

To her who coldly sneers at those who, having stumbled, long to flee
From where defiled walls round them close I'd give a little charity
For every slothful one I'd leave
The wish to labor and achieve

To them that are the slaves of greed I'd bring the wish to turn from strife.
The longing, when they've all they need, to lead the peaceful, quiet life.
I'd scatter chances o'er the earth
For all who long to prove their worth.

If I were Santa Claus I'd bring the gift of beauty for each maid
And hopeful songs for them to sing who sit defeated and afraid,
And each should have in every land
This little motto: "Lend a Hand."
—S. E. Kiser in Chicago Record-Herald.

The Sadness of Christmas.

Christmas is usually regarded as a day of rejoicing, and for the children it often is a day of real pleasure. But even upon the child, if it be a sensitive child, the melancholy begins to creep toward the late afternoon as the shadows of night draw close. Much more to the adult is the day, one in which if there is pleasure it is the pleasure of high comedy where tears lie very near the joyous surface. The young man or young woman is bored or pained by the congregation of his relatives, old and chill, about the table seeking for the amusement which escapes, and even if the day is spent about one's own immediate fireside there are thoughts as the members of the family gather together for deliberate joy that some one once belonging there will joy no more. So that the pensive man finds food for the reflection that happiness comes, if at all, not for the seeking nor at any set time, but as an unconscious function of the thoughtless soul engaged in the ordinary occupations of the gray and commonplace day.

WHEN MARY'S BABE WAS BORN

Dear day, how glad we greet thy glorious morn
While fleet winged thought speeds back to Nazareth town
To picture how that Syrian sun smiled down
That faroff dawn when Mary's babe was born!

Think! In that Jewish home on that day came
A wondrous man-child, strong of heart and limb.
The purple blood of princes pulsed in him.
Love gave that babe a common Hebrew name.

He grew beyond the limits of his race.
Beyond the narrow visibn of his time.
He saw sun clear the towering truth sublime—
Man is the incarnation of God's grace;

A WONDROUS MAN-CHILD.

Man is the Eternal's finite counterpart,
In essence through and through divine,
Born in eternity to strive and pine
Until he finds his home in God's great heart

So welcome we on every Christmas morn
The high and holy thought supreme—
Our sonship is sure truth, not idle dream.
We, too, like Mary's babe, in God are born

Yea, with firm faith we hail that Christ Child's birth,
The advent of the peerless Prince of Peace.
Our sin to cure, our sorrow to surcease,
The holiest morn that ever dawns on earth
