SATURDAY, JANUARY 17, 1914.

RESOLUTION offered in House of Delegates by Mr. Howard Turner, of Kent county:

Resolved, That it is the sense and judgment of the House of Delegates of the General Assembly of Maryland, that every effort be made to conduct its present session with proper economy and with business-like methods, without impairing its efficiency and usefulness, and to carry out the platform of the Democratic party and to assist the Speaker of this body in the furtherance of his earnest advocacy of an economical administration.

BALTIMORE has had 36 murders within the past year! Has there been an execution?

THE sad drowning in Chester river noted elsewhere broke up the skating here. The sympathy of this whole community go out to the bereaved parents.

A JUDGE in Baltimore sentenced a prisoner to six months in jail for assault with intent to kill and at the same time sentenced another prisoner to one year in jail for stealing graphone records. Consistency, thou art surely a jewel.

A MOVEMENT is on foot, as heretofore noted in the NEWS, looking toward the removal of the Chestertown postoffice to the lower room of the Lyceum Theatre. The postal inspector was here this week and stated to the NEWS man that there was need for better quarters and that the corner room would make an ideal place if satisfactory terms could be made.

THERE is one State law which for the unties especially should be changed, ., the time of holding primaries. We uld suggest that the month of June selected in which to name a date. th the primaries in September the ople do not have time to rest before electio.. The election is overshaded by the primaries and there is nger of defeat because of soreness or ack of activity on the part of the people.

DR THOMAS M. HARE, the man who directed the successful fight for prohibition in West Virginia, on Monday accepted the position of superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Maryland, filling the vacancy caused by the resignation of William H. Anderson, who has become the superintendent of the New York League. Dr. Hare is about fifty years old and was a lawyer before he became a minister. He has been in the Anti-Saloon League work about fifteen years, having recently been engaged as a national organizer, with headquarters at Westerville, Ohio. The hounds will not be able to catch this hare!

STRONG pleas for the completion of the system of state improved roads are set forth in a preliminary report of the Roads Commission for 1912 and 1913, submitted to the General Assembly.

There is no doubt of a willingness on the part of the General Assembly to authorize a loan of at least $5,000,000. It may be $6,000,000, as recommended by the Governor. The only obstacle to the grant of the appropriation is an unwillingness to increase the state tax rate beyond the present figure, 31 cents on the $100. The leaders of the two houses believe they can authorize the loan of $6,000,000 and at the same time avoid an increase in the tax rate by adopting the suggestion of former Senator A. P. Gorman that the state's stock in the sinking fund be cancelled, thus doing away with the necessity of providing by taxation funds for interest payments and sinking fund requirements.

In apportioning the proposed new loan the commission recommends $53- 0 to Kent on regular appropriation on unty road mileage basis, $42,000 spec- or a total of $95,000; Queen Anne's, ,000; Talbot, $115,000. According his fix-up Kent would be one of the e lowest counties.

LEGISLATIVE NEWS.

The adoption by the Legislature of the plan for reform in legislative procedure, proposed by United States Senator elect Blair Lee and supported by Senator Beck and other leading party men of all factions, was assured by action taken Tuesday by the Senate caucus and the House Rules Committee.

Action also taken favorably upon the right of Frank E. Williams, of Cecil county, to a seat in the State Senate. The special committee, of which State Senator Beck, of Kent county, was chairman, decided Mr. Williams to be entitled to his seat after a hearing lasting but a few minutes.

A joint caucus of the Democrats of the Senate and House was held and nominated Gen. Murray Vandiver as State Treasurer.

Comptroller Harrington submitted his report to the Legislature. In it he stated that the State's expenses were exceeding its income and declared in favor of a State tax commission, whose duty it would be to fix the basis for taxation in every county and city in the State.

The report of the Shellfish Commission called attention to raids made upon the grounds taken up by oyster planters and urged the use of power boats for patrol service. It also asked legislation looking to the adjustment of protests against taking up oyster grounds within the territory declared to be barren.

The Senate Democrats finally reached an agreemeat as to rules. Among the most important changes made are:

All bills must go on the calendar in regular order, the Senate, general and civil bills having the right of way in the order named, but when, as often happens, there is a congestion of House bills, the Senate files being comparatively clear, the order may be reversed and the House bills come first.

The omnibus appropriation bills must be reported within 65 days after the beginning of the session.

A bill sent to a committee within the first 30 days of the session must be reported back within 20 days after such reference, and after the first 30 days bills must be reported back within 15 days, unless the chairman asks for an extension of time; in which extent a vote of the Senate must be taken and a majority acquiesces.

All bills must be submitted in typewritten form and go through the regular course until they reach the third reading stage, when they must be printed. In the event the House further amends a measure and the amendments are accepted by the Senate, then it will be necessary to print a third time.

An important rule adopted is that requiring the incorporation in the bill the section of a law it is proposed to change, so that an explanation may be unnecessary. This rule will make it less easy to slip through a bill affecting a particular case to be settled in court.

The House Committee on Rules also caucused, ann after agreeing to the printing of bills, decided to conform to the change made by the Senate.

Election Bills

Delegate Milton L. Veasey, of Worcester county, has ready for introduction several bills bearing on the General Election laws of the State and others dealing with local conditions in Worcester county.

Probably the most significant thing, politically, about Mr. Veasey's bills is that one of them provides for the "county unit" plan for direct primaries in the nomination of candidates for United States Senator. Mr. Veasey is a Democratic delegate from Senator John Walter Smith's home county and is one of his political followers

His purpose to support the "county unit" plan for nominating Senators is thought to be plain evidence of Senator Smith's intention of fighting Mayor Preston's idea of a mass vote in nominating Senators. It has been thought all along that he and United States Senator-elect Blair Lee, father of the "county unit" plan, would be found lined up solidly against the Mayor's suggestions.

To Repeal Wilson Law Feature

One of the bills repeals the present election laws that retain, in some of the counties, in whole or in part, provisions of the former Wilson law, which was repealed for most of the State two years ago. Nearly all the provisions of the Wilson bill have been retained in Worcester, and some of them in Anne Arundel, Calvert, Charles, Kent, St Mary's, Prince George's, Somerset and Talbot. The object of the Veasey bill is to secure a uniform measure for the entire State, in conformity with party pledges.

More Protection for Voter

Another bill prepared by Mr. Veasey is to make more certain that the intention of the voter is to be taken into consideration in counting ballots. It provides that, when more names are voted for in a group than there are offices to be filled in that group, the vote shall be void only as to that group.

DON'T SPIT ON STREETS

EDITORS OF KENT NEWS—

I have heard it asked over and over again, "Is there a town ordinance against the spitting upon the sidewalks?" I am informed that there is none. Our "Town Fathers" cannot fail to see the special need of such an ordinance if they travel the main streets of our town, and this during the evening hours when so many congregate in the "favorite spots." If this be so, then why not create such an ordinaoce, and then, by all means, enforce it? Apart from the very important fact of its being unsanitary, it is particularly offensive to view, and at the same time humiliating to be obliged to walk upon such streets.

Am I not voicing the sentiments of many in suggesting that an ordinance be passed prohibiting the spitting upon sidewalks and in public buildings, with a fine imposed of not less than $1.00 for each offense? Let Chestertown be up-to-date in this one particular, at least.

A WOMAN PEDESTRIAN.

January 8, 1914.

STUDENTS of Columbia College to the number of 402 gave up the good time they might have had last summer and earned $56,705 76. According to the figures of summer earnings which were compiled by the university appointments office, this represents an increase of almost $20,000 over the amount the students earned in the summer of 1912. The summer earnings made it possible for many of the students to contiue their college work.

Horticultural Meeting

The Peninsula Horticultural Meeting at Easton was well attended and a fine exhibit made. In his address on apples, Mr. Walter B. Harris, of Kent county, said:

The apply has been so thoroughly discussed by everybody the last few years, and as the public generally is so well informed, I am afraid I can give you no new information.

The apple crop in the United States as a whole has been short this last year, probably not more than 50 per cent. of a normal crop, while for the Peninsula not more than 25 per cent. of a normal crop, the result of late frosts and aphis.

The bloom was heavy and the fruit exceptionally free from fungus and insect injury, other than aphis, which cut the crop left by the frost about in half.

The average price of fancy early summer fruit and fall apples was nearly double that of last year, while winter apples only brought a small increase in price over last year.

While the price of apples is higher than it was a few years ago, the cost of production has also advanced even faster. The capital necessary in apple production has increased by leaps and bounds the last few years. The power sprayers, heavy teams and a system of water supply have long since become a recognized necessity, and with the trade demanding a pack of uniform fruit, the apple sizer is the only solution. At the recent meeting of the American Pomological Society in Washington the use of the apple grader was discussed to some extent, and every grower present who was using a modern grading machine spoke of it as satisfactory and indispensable.

On any fruit farm there is two or three times as much team work in the spring as at any other time of the year, and we board these extra teams the larger part of the year just to meet the rush for three or four months. With low headed trees and heavy implements, it has become a problem to work around the trees without injury to the tree and the fruit. To overcome this difficulty the low down orchard tractors will soon be a part of all up-to-date orchard equipment. Then the fruit grower who caters to home trade has already found the auto truck a necessity.

These improvements all call for more expensive and intelligent labor.

Rev. Alfred Smith, member of the committee on apples, writes me that, as a result of frosts, Mr. Bancroft had only 30 barrels for storage, while his previous crop was about 4,000 barrels. Mr. Smith has asked me to impress upon the growers the fact that lime and sulphur will not take the place of Bordeaux as a fungicide. He also spoke of the crops being injured by aphis.

I want to say in conclusion that I believe the box pack is the coming thing for us, and the sooner we learn the art of packing in boxes economically the better for us.

THE statement of the Building & Loan Co. appears in this issue and shows it to be one of the solid and useful institutions of the county.

WHAT TO TEACH THE BOYS.

A philosophier has said that true education for boys is to teach "them what they ought to know when they become men."

What is it they ought to know then?

One—To be true—to be genuine. No education is worth anything that does not include this. A man had better not know how to read; he had better never learn a letter in the alphabet, and be true and genuine in intention and action, rather than being learned in all sciences and language, to be at the same time false in heart and counterfeit in life. Above all things teach the boys that truth is more than riches—more than any earthly culture more than any earthly power or position.

Two—To be pure in thought, language and life—pure in mind and body. An impure man, young or old poisoning the society where he moves with vile stories and impure examples, is a moral leper—a plague spot, who ought to be treated as were banished from society, and compelled to cry unclean, as a warning to save others from the pestilence.

Three—To be unselfish. To care for the feelings and comforts of others To be generous, noble, and manly. This will include a general reverence for the aged, and for things sacred.

Four—To be self-reliant and selfhelpful, even from early childhood. To be industrious always; and self-supporting in the earliest proper age. Teach them that all honest work is honorable, and that an idle useless life of dependence on others is disgraceful.

When a boy has learned the four things; when he has made these ideas a part of his being—however poor or however rich—he has learned most of the important things he ought to know when he becomes a man. With these four properly mastered, it will be easy to find all the rest.

RAILROAD WINS APPEAL.

The Court of Appeals took issue on the order of the Service Commission in an action in which the Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington Railroad Company was plaintiff below, and in which the decree of Circuit Court No. 2 is upheld.

The commission directed the railroad to rebuild and operate what is known as the "Nicholson Branch," of the Kent County Railroad, for the purpose of carrying freight in car load lots. By the decree of the lower court the commission was enjoined from enforcing its order.

The dispute arose in 1911 when a number of citizens of Kent county petitioned the Service Commission for the re-opening of this road. In granting the injunction the lower tribunal, in its order, stated that the Nicholson Branch of the road was abandoned in 1897, and it is not within the power of the Public Service Commission, by its order, to revive the use of the right of way by railroad which had been lost, and secondly, that the order of the commission to rebuild branch was unreasonable under the facts and circumstances of the case.

The Court of Appeals agrees with this view, in the opinion delivered by Judge Briscoe.
