Chestertown Bonds Sell Well.

Proposals for the Chestertown Street and Sewer Bonds of $25,000 were opened by Commissioners W. T. Tuyer, Merrick Clements and George R. Rouse on Tuesday last. There were two bids :

Nelson Cook & Co., with Baker, Watts & Co., Baltimore, $25,542 25.

Townsend, Scott & Co., Balto., $25,496.00.

The commissioners awarded the bonds to the highest bid which was that of Nelson, Cook & Co. who give the town a premium of $542.25. This is a compliment to the town which speaks well for our town officials.

The commissioners will take steps at once towards beginning the street and sewer improvement.

Revival meetings begin at Piney Neck M. E. Church Sunday June 21st and continue for two weeks. Professor Luther F. Mesick the noted gospel singer, of White Haven, Md., and Rev. Jno. Prettyman, of Rock Hall are to be present and assist in the services. All neighboring pastors and their congregations are invited to attend and assist in this holy cause. All day service Sundays.

Better Babies Contest.—Mrs. Anna Steese Richardson, director of Better Babies Bureau in the Woman's Home Companion, expects to be with us for two lectures previous to the first contest. She is very well through her work in the Companion, is an able speaker and all will be benefited by hearing her address. The date for the address will be announced later, and the lecture will be free, as the expenses will be paid by Worton, Fairlee, Still Pond, Chestertown and Church Hill Granges, and we hope to hold it in the Chestertown High School. We find by the new cards which have come in that the age limit has been raised to five years, so all are asked to make this feature well known. That will give the three year olds of last year a chance to come out and "try" to carry off the prizes again. Application cards will be in the hands of the following ladies by June 16, and must be returned not later than June 27 so as to avoid the rush of last year : Worton, Mrs. Carroll Loller ; Fairlee, Mrs. Fletcher ; Chestertown, Miss Louisa Urie ; Mrs. Harvey Moore, Betterton ; Church Hill, Mrs. Brown.

A CROOKED HOUSE.

Dear Boys and Girls, I saw something the other day that I want to tell you about, for I learned a valuable lesson from it, and I would like you to know, too, how to draw a lesson from incidents that are taking place daily in your lives. As I was walking along the public road not far from Tolchester, I observed a crooked house; it was not a very small one, either. I asked what caused it to be in the condition in which I saw it? For it was leaning to one side. The answer was, that it was poorly built, the framing was not put together properly, and the whole building was weak as a consequence. When the fierce storms beat against the building, it swayed with the tempest, and never assumed its right position and appearance. When you ride from Chestertown to Tolchester look at that house and remember that you are the builder of a character. Your dear young lives are in your own hands.

You can build a noble, strong, symmetrical character, which will rejoice your loved ones, or you can have a weak, frail unsightly one, that will disappoint your friends. Character is what we are in the sight of God, and includes both our secret thoughts and our outward actions.

What sort of material are you putting into your character, young people? Are you building wisely and choosing a right course of action, and are you standing firmly for right principles? Be thoughtful and earnest. A good writer has said :

Beautiful thoughts make beautiful lives ;
For every word and deed
Lies in the thought that prompted it,
As the flower lies in the seed.

Guard your thoughts, for our thoughts mould our future. Read the best literature, which will give you a recreation that will be pure, innocent and refining. Avoid trashy sensational books or stories ; they spoil the intellect. The mind gradually adapts its-self to the subjects upon which it is trained to dwell, and if occupied with trivial subjects, loses the power of vigorous research.

Dear boys, bravely say "No" when you are tempted to drink, or to use the poisonous cigarette. And dear girls will you show a noble independence of character by wearing pretty modest looking dresses. If you do this you are building wisely. Refuse to take part in the common vulgar dance, overcome in the little trials and tests that come to you daily ; and you will thus gain strength to bear the tempests that sometimes sweep over the soul and threaten to destroy your character building.

WEDDING BELLS.

The quaint old church at Shrewbury, near Locust Grove, nestling among the verdent hills of fair old Kent was the centre of interest to society Saturday evening. Many a bridal couple has left its doors since the erection in 1832 but none happier than these herein mentioned. The church was tastily decorated with pink roses and candles and, combined with the beautiful dresses in evidence, made a scene of rare loveliness.

The bride was Miss Elizabeth Scott Hurtt, the attractive daughter of Mrs. Julian Hurtt, of Locust Grove, while the groom was Mr. Simon Wickes Westcott, son of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Westcott, of Chestertown, salesman for the stationary firm of Lucas Bros., Baltimore, with headquarters here.

In the presence of a large and fashionable assemblage the rector, Rev. Dr. P. B. Stauffer, performed the ceremony, the bride being given away by her uncle, Dr. Harry Hurtt, of Washington. Mr. Godfrey Westcott, a brother of the groom, now located at Trinidad, South, America, was best man. Miss Neta Hurtt was maid of honor while Mrs. Moore, of South Carolina, and Mrs. Morton Dukehart were matrons of honor. Misses Estalena Derringer, of Chestertown, and Virginia Hall, of Church Hill, were bridesmaids. The ushers were Messrs. R. Hynson Rogers, Joseph P. Westcott, Thomas Massey, C. G. H. Mulford, Edwin Hurtt and Jesse Ireland. Masters Julian Hurtt. of Kent, and George Henson, of Chattanooga, Tenn., were ribbon boys. Pretty Little Miss Theresa Scott, of Galena, was flower girl while Master Morton Dukehart, of Baltimore, was ring bearer. These were all dressed in white.

The bride wore a handsome gown of white satin trimmed in Renaissance lace and carried lillies of the valley. The bridesmaids and matrons wore pink crepe de chine trimmed in lace and carried bouquets of roses. Butterfly ornaments adorned their hair.

The presents were lovely and numbered by the score.

After the wedding a reception was held at "Woodland Hall," the home of the bride's mother, which was attended by about two hundred.

The happy couple are spending the honeymoon in northern cities and on their return they will reside at Mrs. Finley's boarding house in Chestertown.

Rev. Alvin Boyer Dupuy, pastor of Warwick Charge, and for several years pastor of Wesley Chapel M. P. Church, near Rock Hall, was united in marriage to Miss Mary Wilkins Marshall on Tuesday, June 2, in the Methodist Protestant Church of Lynchburg, Va. The happy pair left for Norfolk and Washington upon their trip and expect to reach their charge on June 12. Rev. Mr. Dupuy is one of the younger men of the Maryland Conference, while his bride is one of the best workers that the Lynchburg Church had. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. M. Compher, pastor of the church.

Where Shall I Go This Evening ?

To The Candy Kitchen

Hot weather has started and the taste for good, cool ice-cream is returning and the only place to get it is at the CANDY KITCHEN.

Our friends have noticed what a nice clean parlor we keep and have favored us all along with an ever-increasing share of their patronage. There is but one reason for this increase. We keep the cleanest, purest cream in town, as well as the best line of purely Home-made Candies

Everything good to eat can be obtained at our parlors, and there is no better way to spend a few minutes these warm evenings than to come with your friends and hear the good music while you eat. New records every week.

Of course we keep a full line of cigars, cigarettes, and tobacco. We also handle all kinds of fruits in season, and we might remark that nothing but pure fresh fruits go into our ice-cream.

If there is a party, a festival, a picnic, or an excursion—remember that you can get a special discount on cream bought in large quantities. Shipped free over five gallons. This is a saving.

We are always glad to see you and your friends at all times. Come in and spend a while with us. Yours very truly,
