SATURDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1914.

THE Prohibition party of Maryland has selected Rev. Charles M. Elderdice as its standard bearer in the approaching fight in the First Congressional District of Maryland.

IN the death of HON. JAMES S. HARRIS Kent county has lost a useful and noble citizen, the church a faithful and valuable member, the farmers an intelligent and progressive helper, the Democratic party a steady and tried advocate, the home he loved a tender husband and father, and the NEWS a true friend.

PROF. WILLIAM J. HEAPS, Secretary of the State P. O. S. of A., who has made frequent trips to various camps in Kent county, and who has upon several occasions addressed public gatherings in Chestertown, has been nominated as the Republican candidate for Congress from the Second Congressional District of Maryland. He will be among the "also ran" class, as "Uncle Fred" is bound to be re-elected.

RECEIPTS of the office of Harry A. Roe, State Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, show that the war has had no noticeable effect on prosperity in Maryland. The receipts for September to date are double those of last September, with the receipts of the Washington branch office still to come in. Indications are that the net receipts will be in excess of $250,000. Kent county's proportion is nearly $500 which is to be applied on repairing State roads.

HON. JESSE D. PRICE, of Salisbury, whom the Democrats of this the First Congressional District, have nominated for Congress, should receive one of the largest majorities at the election in November that any candidate has ever rolled up on the Eastern Shore. He is a man well qualified in every particular for the position for which he has been named. As President of the Maryland Senate for two terms he demonstrated his ability as an able law maker. Kent county should give him no less than 500 majority.

Two Maryland counties are to vote on the liquor question this fall—Carroll and Cecil. The greater part of the former county is now "wet," while all of the latter is "dry." The question is to be submitted in Cecil under an act which requires resubmission in every four years, while Carroll is to vote under the terms of a bill passed by the last Legislature. Once in its history, about 28 years ago, Carroll voted on the liquor question and went "wet," but the advocates of prohibition have always insisted that the bill at that time was drawn in such a way that the vote was not a fair test of public sentiment. The last time Cecil voted on the question the temperance people won overwhelmingly.

A GREAT ACHIEVEMENT.

With nearly all of Europe engaged in a war of such mammoth proportions that it is hardly possible to comprehend what the figures mean, the achievement of our Administration in the interest of peace between this country and other nations, stands out more prominently than it otherwise would.

The United States, through Secretary of State Bryan, between August 7, 1913, and September 15, 1914, has signed peace treaties with twenty-six nations, These include England, France, Italy, China, Spain and many smaller countries.

The nations signing these treaties, with their colonies, have a population of 1,200,000,000, or more than two-thirds of all the people estimated to be living on the globe.

When any dispute arises between the nations engaged by these treaties, if it cannot be settled by diplomatic effort it will go before a permanent international commission for arbitation. This commission will have one year to investigate and report, and during the period of investigation the disputing nations cannot declare war.

While the decision of the commission is not binding on the nations to the dispute, and may be disregarded by them, it is more than likely that the delay and the investigation necessary will allow for sober reflection on the part of the people involved, and in that way will bring about a peaceful settlement of the difficulty.

This is the greatest anti-war achievement in the world's history and is one of which Secretary Bryan may well feel proud. It is a great triumph of diplomacy.

DR. BULL'S COUGH SYRUP IS THE best medicine for pulmonary troubles. One bottle will prove its excellence. 25c.

IN another column is noted the killing of the fine herd of milch cows owned by Wm. McKenney, of Queen Anne's. These cows were infected with tuberculosis and the officials promptly ordered them killed. This matter of healthy stock is a serious and important one for the farmer, but does not get the consideration it deserves Let the grangers and clubs take up the question of how to deal with tuberculosis, cholera and other diseases.

THE issues in the present political campaign are more clearly defined than usual. The Democratic candidates for the Senate and House of Representatives stand firmly behind President Wilson and his policies for the relief of the people; the Republican candidates stand upon a high tariff platform, but in their fight are not only high tariff but absolutely anti-Wilson.

The issue is therefore clear cut. The voter who believes that Woodrow Wilson is an able, sincere man, who is devoting his best energies to the interests of the people of the United States, should not hesitate to vote the Democratic ticket. The voter who places a dollar above a man, and believes that the financial interests should absolutely control the destinies of this Republic, should by all means vote the Republican ticket.
