JIM GREEN SHOT.

Santiago Scene of Shooting—State's Attorney And Officers Apprehend Offenders.

Jim Green, a notorious colored character of this town, was shot through the left breast Saturday night in Santiago by Caleb Reed. Green is the negro who was wanted here for having forged a note on Mr. Leon Brown for $90 a few months ago and skipped.

Caleb Reed made his escape and went to the home of a negro policeman in Middletown where he was intercepted by State's Attorney Vickers who had telephoned to many towns, and had him brought to jail by Sheriff Brown on Monday.

It seems that Green persisted in his attention to Reed's "sweetheart," Mamie Johnson, who in turn hid from Green in Gertie Ward's house in Santiago. Reed resented Green's attentions toward her and secured a pistol, with which to intimidate Green, from John Lindsey, who was intercepted by Constable Jester and the Deputy Sheriff in the bottom of a dearborn covered with a blanket.

Words were exchanged between Reed and Green, the former finally firing upon the latter. Green, while dangerously wounded, was not even shot down and Dr. Charles Whaland, who dressed the wound, says he will probably recover. He was taken to the Maryland General Hospital, Baltimore, Monday morning.

There are conflicting rumors as to how the affair finally came to a climax. Mamie Johnson told Officer Samuel E. Cooper—who is always on the lookout for anything that will help clear up a case—that Green told Reed to try his pistol or he would try his own and at the same time put his right hand to his hip. It was not until then, the women said, that Reed fired on Green.

MERRITT—TOWNSEND

On Oct. 7th, at 7. p. m., a very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. A. Townsend, of Easton, when their daughter, Miss Ella Maud became the bride of Dr. J. B. Merritt, 3rd, of Easton. The Rev. W. L. White, of the Ebenezer M. E. Church of that town, officiated. The wedding marches were rendered by Miss Madeline Kaiser, of Georgetown, Delaware.

The bride was attired in a beautiful gown of brocade satin and real lace, with a court train. She wore a veil of tulle, caught with wreath of orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of Bride's roses and maiden hair fern.

The home was very prettily decorated with autumn leaves and pink and white roses.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held, and elaborate refreshments served. Many very beautiful and useful gifts were received.

The out-of town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Romie Skirven, and Mr. George R. Usilton, of Kent County; Major and Mrs. Parks, of Wilmington; Mrs. Rasin, of Philadelphia; Mrs. G. F. Sharpley, of Salisbury; Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Wallace, Seaford; Mrs. J. S. Scarborough, and Miss Scarborough, of Girdletree; Miss Madeline Kaiser, of Georgetown, Del.

QUICK FUNERAL FOR THE GRAND OLD PARTY

Washington, Oct. 10.—"The Democratic party is the oldest undertaker on this Continent. It began to bury political parties 100 years ago, and it will bury the old Republican party."

This is the retort which Representative M M. Neeley, of West Virginia, hurled at Minority Leader Mann in the House when the latter declared that the present proceeding of Congress were "the funeral services of the Democratic party." The answer of Mr. Neeley, who is serving his first term, was received with laughter and applause by the Democrats. Mr. Neeley predicted a splendid vindication of the Wilson administration by the voters of the country in the next election. Then getting back to Minority Leader Mann's comment on the proceedings of Congress, he added:

"To paraphrase a statement of a great man, the old Democrats buried the Whig party; the Democrats buried the old Free Soil party; the Democratic buried the old Greenback party, and on the third of November the old Republican party will die, unrepenting, unforgiven and unredeemed. And on account of the state of the corpse, we will perform the funeral ceremony, and it will be a funeral without music, without mourners, without flowers and without resurrection of the dead. And we will carve on the rude slab that marks your resting place these words: 'The wicked run well for a season, but they shall be cut off and that without remedy.'"

TO THE EDITOR OF THE SUN—Sir: In THE SUN of October 9 I note this:

For the first time in history, Germany is under partial prohibition. No beer is sold in any of the railroad stations, or anywhere else where soldiers going to the front may be tempted to drink it.

Just to think of it! That in the land of beer the personal liberty of the soldier to enjoy his favorite beverage should be taken away. There seem to be "prohibition cranks" in beer-soaked Germany as well as in the United States.

The Social Value Of Telephone Service

One of the many uses of the telephone in the home is its convenience for arranging social affairs, and keeping in touch with one's friends.

Various little affairs for which no invitations are written are going on in your circle all the time. The guests are bidden over the telephone. Not to have telephone service in your home means that you are often left out.

You can have this handy means of sending and receiving invitations in your home for a few cents a day.
