Mr. Porter had been in poor health for some time and by sheer force of will against the advice of friends who saw his vitality weakening, he continued the performance of his duties as rural mail carrier up to Saturday last when he was too ill to go out again, and although every thing possible was done for his relief and comfort the end came quickly. He was born in Chesterville, Md., Dec. 31., 1876, and came to Millington with his parents when quite a small child. Later he learned the trade of watchmaker in Millington with Francis Smith, and being a natural mechanic could do almost anything with fine tools. ROCK HALL

The blizzard of last Saturday tensioned the nerves of "we uns" to the highest pitch. Watermen scurried about in fear for the safety of their boating and fishing rigs, and the ladies were non-plussed about the display on the morrow of their feminine fancies. And such an Easter greeting on Sunday morning. Roads banked up, many places impassable, houses coated from ground to roof, majestic cedars so heavily loaded that they were made to do obeisance to mother earth. Old Sol, however, soon got busy, and made the day overhead at least, bearable, and the usual church services were held with fair attendance.

Mrs. Ella Levy, in order to get supplies for Sunday, in the absence of men folks at home, except the sick, put on her father's heavy rubber boots late Saturday afternoon and started to town a mile away. When she struck the main road she found the snow hip deep but nothing daunted, she stuck to her task, secured supplies and got back ere dark, but she was almost exhausted and her feet blistered fearfuliy. Some families in same section, even with men at home, did without extra supplies for Sunday rather than face the blizzard.

The Patriotic Order Sons of America will celebrate their 16th anniversary next Thursday evening with oratory, music and refreshments.

The Odd Fellows will hold an oyster supper on the 22nd. This Lodge was on the verge of extinction at the beginning of the year, but has rallied somewhat, and this proposed supper is a test of the sincerity of the good faith of the members' desire to royally assist in an onward upbuild. Those not lending their earnest effort are invited to withdraw, so that the Lodge may not be hampered by useless material.

Mrs. A. P. Levy, who has been guest of her sisters, the Misses Ryan, for the past month, returned to her home in the city on Wednesday accompanied by her son, Rulon, and Miss Ada Colyer. And grand daddy is lonesome.

Quite an excitement was created in Allen's Lane on Wednesday by a mysterious fire on the property of Mr. W. T. Carter. His stable, a valuable cow, and lot of fencing was destroyed, as was also an outbuilding, and a lot of provender on the adjoining property belonging to Mr. W. T. Harrison.

IN MEMORIAM.

ELBURN.—In sad but loving remembrance of my dear husband and our dear father, JOHN WILLIAM, who departed this life three years ago, on April 11, 1912.

My heart in deep sorrow returns to-day,
As memory recalls how death bore my husband away,
And left me in sorrow and grief and woe,
When I stood by his grave three years ago.
BY HIS LOVING WIFE.

Dearest father, you will never be forgotten,
Never shall your memory fade;
Sweetest thoughts will ever linger
Around the grave where you are laid.
BY HIS CHILDRED.

GRANGE NOTES.

Massey Grange, No. 319, held its most interesting meeting since the organization of the grange, on Friday evening last. There was a fair attendance and five new members, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Anthony, Misses Eloise Wilkins, Ettie C. and Lizzie Price were admitted. After routing business, Lecturer Wilkins asked that the roll be called and each member present respond by stating his or her favorite breed of chickens, and why. Many intelligent answers were made with Plymouth Rocks predominating. On the question of "Hobbies", Isaac Gibbs stated that the cow gave him a broader pleasure than any thing else. Mr. Gibbs spoke of his start as a farmer, when he could not milk a cow, and was forced to learn by an accident to his housekeeper, who had been performing this function. Horses, reading and a varying list of hobbies were named culminating with one of the youngest members who stated that her hobby and desire was to have a bracelet watch. Poems and readings were offered including the notice of a scholership offered by the Maryland Agricultural College.

The Rest Room.—The Rest Room fitted out by the Woman's Federated Club of Cestertown, was formally opened to the public on Easter Monday afternoon. A business session of the Club was held, after which tea was served to its members and friends who chanced to visit the room. A committee was named to investigate the cost of a pulmotor, an instrument for resuscitating drowning persons. This instrument if secured will be for the use of all physicians throughout the town and county in the event of its need. Another committee was named to interest the charitable organizations of the county in the Blind Survey which is being promoted throughout the counties of the Shore. Mrs. Harry Brown and Mrs. Eben F. Perkins were elected delegates and Mrs. Fred. G. Usilton and Mrs. Lewis Wood alternates to the annual meeting of the Maryland State Federation of Women's Clubs to be held in Baltimore Wednesday and Thursday, April 21st and 22nd, at McCoy Hall, Johns Hopkins University.
