AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

Paul Perkins and —— Bryan, chauffeurs for Cahill's autos between Centreville and Chestertown, while enroute to this town Friday afternoon met with an accident which upset their car completely and turned it right about, only facing in the opposite direction from Chestertown.

Perkins says he was going at about fifteen miles an hour when he reached the road that leads to Rolph's wharf, and that he lost control of the wheel, the car running up an embankment which caused it to turn over, he being thrown out and severely injured about the face and body, while his companion was also somewhat bruised. He was brought here and received medical attention from Dr. Simpers, returning to Centreville late in the afternoon.

POLYTECHNIC SWAMPED

Washington College Batters City Team Boys, 20 to 3.

The Washington College baseball team had easy going Saturday and swamped the Baltimore Polytechnic Institute ball-tossers, 20 to 3. The Engineers were accompanied by about 200 rooters, who made the trip on a chartered steamboat During the first two sessions, when Poly appeared to be holding her own, its supporters were enthusiastic, but with the advent of the fatal third the visitors' charges became listless, and the local rooters were given full sway.

Washington scored first, but the lone tally was tied through three successive bingles. However, in Washington's half of the session the home boys began to get down to serious work, and after the entire team had batted Ritter gave way to Grace. He failed to stem the tide, as three additional tallies were made off of him. The majority of the runs were the result of clean hits, one of which was a circuit clout, but the tallying was aided by loose fielding on the part of the visitors. Washington's 14 bingles were aided by 13 passes issued by Ritter and Grace.

The locals fielded in excellent style, giving good support to each of its three twirlers sent to the box. After the midway period Washington began to send in substitutes until finally most of the second string was on the field. Enright, who took the box first for the locals, was effective and in all but one period kept the opposing batsmen guessing.

Bourland was the star of the contest, making a spectacular running catch in the field and getting a perfect record at the plate.

BASE BALL NOTES

The Chestertown B. B. Club overwhelmed Still Pond at that place Saturday, winning by the score of 12 to 2. Davis and Robinson was the winning battery. Rolph and Blackway starred with the stick.

The Rich Neck team was defeated by the Chestertown boys Saturday at Ford's Field, the score being 9 to 8

The Chestertown Base Ball Club has arranged the following games for the next week or two: Tuesday, at Easton; Saturday, at Ridgely; Monday, Easton, at Chestertown; Wednesday, May 26, at Centreville; Saturday following at Prices; Decoration day, Greensboro here.

Manager Blackway, of the Chestertown Club wants to hear from a strong team for a game on July 4 at Chestertown.

A KENT COUNTIAN LIVING IN MANILA

It was with mingled feelings of pleasure and regret that we steamed out of Honolulu on September 15th and headed south-westward toward Guam, another of Uncle Sam's island possessions and our next stop. It took the Logan 12 days to make this part of the voyage and during this time we saw not a sail or ship on this broad expanse of the Pacific. On shipboard we amused ourselves by getting up a pool on the ship's run each day, reading, playing bridge, dancing and reading the wireless reports of the Eeropean war. On the 25th we passed the Marianne or Landrone Islands which England had just seized from Germany a short time before.

During this lap of our journey several cases of measles developed on board ship and what was our chagrin and disappointment when we arrived at Guam September 27th to be quarantined on board ship with no one allowed ashore. For two whole days we lay anchored in the harbor there under a hot tropical sun with no air stirring while the Logan unloaded supplies for the Naval Wireless and Cable Stations which the Government maintains there. On account of coral reefs the ship had to anchor about 2 miles out from the town and supplies were carried ashore on barges and lighters. Glad we were on the 29th to leave that hot place and start on the last lap of our journey to Manila which was still 5 days farther west.

Finally on October 3rd we came in sight of the green covered mountains of the islands of Samar and Luzon, two of the Philippine group, but it was not until the afternoon of the 4th that we passed by the Island of Corregidor, the Gibraltar of the Philippines, and into Manila Bay which Admiral Dewey put on the map for the United States on May 1, 1898. Just outside the entrance and beyond the 3 mile limit which marks the end of United States jurisdiction, we passed the converted British cruiser, Empress of Asia, which was waiting for some ill fated German merchant ship to stick her nose out of Manila Bay and Uncle Sam's protection and be quickly captured as a prize of war.

Before the present war this vessel was a British passenger ship plying between China, Japan, The Philippines and San-Francisco, but upon the declaration of war was taken over by the British Government, armed with rapid fire guns, painted the war gray and set out to prey upon German shipping. Manila harbor was literally filled with German ships which had sought a refuge here from the British men of war.

In passing over the 31 mile stretch of water which makes Manila Bay one of the finest harbors in the world, we felt like treading on hallowed ground for here over 16 years ago was fought Dewey's famous battle which ended Spanish dominion in the Far East and started the United State on her way to her present position as a world power.

After the customary quarantine and customs inspection of our baggage we walked down the gangplank and at last were in Manila. Our long journey of 10 000 miles and 41 days from New York was at an end. I shall endeavor to tell you something about Manila and the Philippines in a future letter.

Very sincerely yours,
ROBERT E. JONES,
Lieutenant United States Army.
