LA TENA'S BIG WILD ANIMAL CIRCUS HERE

Performance This Afternoon at Piper's Field Proved First Class Attraction.

Bluefford Daily Journal.

La Tena's big wild animal circus which arrived in this city at 4 30 o'clock this morning from Dover, N. H., gave its first performance at Piper's field this afternoon at 2 o'clock and proved a big success in the line of circus entertainments. The show is bright and clean and overflowing with genuine arts of worth-while quality and was pleasing to young and old alike, with its excellent program of novel numbers, more than one of which would have done credit to a much more pretentious show. Everything about the show was clean and well regulated, the costuming and staging of the various acts was beyond reproach and the entire outfit proved one of quality and considerable merit.

Both in the quality of the program and in the show, La Tena's circus proved a genuine credit to the show business as a whole.

Will exhibit in Chestertown next Tuesday, Sept. 28, 1915.

FISH FARMING

There is scarcely one of the inland States in which the farming of waterfoods is not now conducted upon a scale of importance. Here in Maryland, with the Chesapeake Bay and its tributaries ramifying more than half the counties of the State and furnishing a large and varied supply of water delicacies ranging from the oyster to the diamond back terrapin, it is difficult to arouse a proper degree of interest in the rearing of waterfoods through systematized effort. There are inland sections of Maryland, however, that might profit by a study of some of the fresh water food raising schemes of other States.

The latest story of fish farming comes from the mountain region of New York. On many private estates there are small lakes ranging in size from two to twenty acres. Some of these are natural, others have been artificially made. In one of the counties of the Eastern and Central region of the State there is a general movement by lake owners which begins by draining these big ponds and carefully getting out the suckers, sun fish, German carp and other undesirable varieties. Then the lake is to be stocked with trout and pickerel along with small fish breeds that will serve as food for the edible fish.

"WITHIN THE LAW."

Big money is not made because of the law but in spite of it. Such is the theme of "Within the Law" by Bayard Veiller. It is not merely one of the most vivid and stirring but without exception the most satisfying melo-drama ever written. For it is more than a play of suspense and situation. It has a real and vital theme and it poses a question absolutely unanswerable under present conditions. No more entertaining and exciting play has ever been seen here. But over and above this essential qualification of any dramatic entertainment "Within the Law" is profoundly moving. For a melo-drama to achieve the effect of making an audience feel deeply and actually perpetrate a little thinking is a feat for which the author deserves all credit. There never was a play in which the suspense was better sustained and there is ample humor in it as well. Net Monday night at Chestertown.
