THE Passion Play, reproduced in picture and story, by G. A. Weber, traveler and lecturer, will be given next Monday evening in the Auditorium of the Chestertown High School.

THE Shriver farm of 30 acres located in Quaker Neck was sold at public sale Tuesday by W. W. Beck and H. E. Perkins, attorneys, to Mrs. Sallie R. Brown, wife of Mr. C. C. Brown, for $1450.

AN unusual sight was seen on the main street of Chestertown Saturday, when an undertaker drove through town with a live hen and 17 chickens inside the bearse! The owner denied the charge that he had buried some one and the chickens were the only property in sight. He said he bought them.

A PARTY from Cambridge, consisting of four ladies, two babies and one man, being driven to Wilmington by a colored man, stayed in Chestertown over night Sunday because the rear axle of the car broke down while they were crossing Chester river bridge. WORK has been started on a concrete bridge to span the mill stream at Church Hill. When the State road between Chestertown and Centreville was completed, the wooden structure at the Church Hill mill was left. For a time it was strong enough to bear the burden of the rapidly increasing traffic, but during the past few months it has weakened considerably. The old structure has been torn away and within a few weeks a new bridge will be open for use.

WATCH for Vansant & Newsome's "smile" next week. See adv. page 4.

FAIRLEE GRANGE will meet on October 20th at 7 o'clock. It will be called "Home Coming" evening, the children especially invited. A great treat in store for all.

ON Tuesday morning Postmaster Orrell at Centreville succeeded in bringing to a close a series of robberies which have recently occurred in the postoffice, when Raymond Hollis, colored, was "caught in the act." Mr. Orrell hid behind a desk and saw the janitor open the money drawer and take out the coin. Hollis had gotten about $33 before he was caught.

ONE of the thrilling features of La Tena's Circus Wednesday in Centreville, happened just after the evening performance had started. Six horses drawing the large cooking wagon became frightened while leaving the show grounds early in the evening. The animals started in a run for the Pennsylvania Railroad station where the wagons had been unloaded that morning. As they dashed out of the show grounds several of the ice cream and candy tables and stands that happened to be in their path were overturned, sending the delicious eatables in every direction. The driver, who in the meantime had lost control of his team, was thrown several feet into the air, and the large wagon, which was heavily loaded with poles, etc., was carried at a rapid gait toward the station, narrowly missing teams and people who were on their way to the circus. They were finally stopped before much damage was done.

THE automobiles of Mr. Owen C. Smith and an unknown party carrying a Maryland license crashed at the foot of Davis' Hill, near Galena, Sunday afternoon. Mr. Smith was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. Satterfield and the former's parents, Capt. and Mrs. Frank M. Satterfield, of Rock Hall. They were ascending Davis' Hill at a slow rate of speed and keeping sharply to the right of the road in order to avoid any possible accident, when the other car, coming in the opposite direction, and in the middle of the road, forced them off the cement road, which was a drop of several inches, their rear wheel striking the front wheel of the other car, causing the car to slide and damaging it slightly. Mr. Smith's machine was slightly damaged, but none of the occupants injured in either car. Several autoists from Chestertown arrived upon the scene of the accident and rendered assistance to Mr. Smith, the party arriving in town at 7 30 p. m. Mr. Smith is exonerated from any blame of the accident.

A New Lighting System.—Mr. G. E. Williams, representing the Oxweld Acetylene Co., of Chicago, Ill., and Newark, N. J., has an advertisement in the NEWS today. He has just installed the Pilot Generator in the new home of Thos. B. Newcomb, at Lynch, Davis Bros., of Galena, are putting the same system in their new garage and hardware store, and in the private dwelling of James Davis. The three buildings will be lighted from the same plant. Mr. Williams also sold during the past few days the following: Mrs. N. G. Costelle, of Worton Manor a large 1 0 plant, Mr. Harry T. Williams and Harry H. Legg, both of Worton.

Mr. Lewin Howard writes from Panama that he arrived safely but to say that he was sea-sick is putting it mildly and the captain says it was not rough, either. Lewin starts in on a salary of $100 per month.

Miss Emma Jarrell, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton L. Jarrell, celebrated the tenth anniversary of her birthday on last Monday, October 4th. Miss Jarrell received quite a few presents in the form of a watch bracelet, opal ring, jewell case, as well as various other presents, including writing paper, candy, etc. The following were present and were given a treat to the "movies" with refreshments later: Emma Jarrell, Ernestine Jarrell, Sadie Brown, Herbert Strong, Anna Strong, Helen Simpers, Gladys Beauchamp, Cornelia Davis, Calvin Copper, Alice Kote, Claude Parks, Lloyd Connelly, Richard Twilley, Harry Graham.

LAW CLASS ELECTION HOT

W. L. Baldwin, of Chestertown, Wins Over C. N. Cover At Maryland University.

The consolidated senior class of the law department, University of Maryland, was busy Saturday holding reconciliations after the long and rather heated election of officers Friday night at the opening of the department for the year.

Many ballots were cast at the election and personal conflicts were narrowly averted several times. On the last ballot W. L. Baldwin, of Chestertown, defeated Charles N. Cover, of Baltimore, by 2 votes out of 78 ballots cast. Other officers are W. G. Allen, of Towson, vice-president; Dudley G. Cooper, Baltimore, secretary; E. L. G. Wright, Baltimore, treasurer; A. W. Pardew, Baltimore, historian. It was a Washington College victory, as the president, vice-president and historian are of the class of 1913 of that institution.

Chestertown Champions

A game of baseball was played at Galena Wednesday for the county championship, Chestertown being the opponent. Galena has been playing great ball winning from Elkton, Middletown and other strong teams. They began to think they could even beat the county town team and on Wednesday found out they had undertaken too much. The score was 1 to 0, Blackway pitched a fine game for Chestertown while Horsey was in the box for Galena. About 400 persons attended the game. The line up was as follows:

Chestertown—Blackway, p; Robinson, c; H. Usilton, 1b; Gibbs, 2b; B. Bartlett, 3b; F. Jarman, ss; Meginniss, lf; Earickson, cf; Shockley, rf.

Galena—Horsey, p; Mullin, c; Newnam, 1b; L. Crew, 2b; Spedden, 3b; Hoover, ss; Bourland, lf; Nickerson, cf; Kernan, rf.

BASE BALL NOTES

Galena is playing fast ball. They defeated Elkton Saturday, but Chestertown trimmed them up 1 to 0.

George Moreland, the great baseball statistician has picked out the following team of all-stars as the best in the base ball world: Alexander, pitch; Schalk, catcher; Saier, first base; Collins, second base; Maisel, third base; Herzog, shortstop; Speaker, right field; Cobb, centre field and Jackson left field.

Alexander, the Phils' star pitcher, was to receive $2 000 bonus if he won 30 games this season. He has won his 30 games, and this little amount added to his $7 000 salary, and his world series money will make quite a respectable year's pay

The world's series games started Friday at Philadelphia. Many from Chestertown expect to attend during the series. Philadelphia and Boston will be the opposing teams today and President Wilson expects to attend.

THE big bus belonging to Graham, Clements & Sutton, has been thoroughly repaired and will probably make excursions to the world's series games at Philadelphia.

OWING to Mr. W. E. Moody's recent illness he has been unable to give his tailoring business proper attention. He is now sufficiently recovered to be at his office. As is quite generally known, Mr. Moody represents one of, if not the largest, exclusive tailoring establishments in the country, and as a result is in a position to offer inside advantages in more ways than one. Look at the large collection of patterns for fall and winter suits and overcoats and get his prices.
