All Are Invited To These Meetings

WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE was defeated in New Jersey by 50,000 The politicians are opposed to it as are also the saloons, which accounts partly for its defeat.

THE reports we receive from the State and county are most encouraging. Every Democrat is speaking well of the ticket, and the independent voters are lining up for its success.

THE election will take place next Tuesday week and on it hang important issues. This is no time for deserting your party. These are the days of Democratic faith and hope. After years of waiting and strife the party has come into power and the going out of the Party in order to visit hatred or ill will upon some individual or to compliment some person who has entered politics at the behest or solicitation of the Republican machine would be hopelessly unfair to our candidates, a desertion of your party and a destruction of the Primary system.

AS FAR as the State candidates are concerned there is no doubt about their election; but we want them to receive the greatest majority ever given in this State. These candidates, who are Hon. Emerson C. Harrington, for Governor; Albert C. Ritchie, for Attorney-General, and Hugh A. McMullen, Comptroller, stand together for real economy and efficiency in public affairs, and they propose, if elected, to give this State a business-like, honest and an economical administration. These candidates are the people's candidates. They belong to the people, and it was by the people they received their nominations. They are free to serve the people without allegiance to any boss or faction. They are in no deal, owned by no man, and are in a position to give this State an administration the people want.

THE Baltimore Sun in a strong editorial says, 'The direct primary gives every voter now an opportunity to exert an influence equal to that of any other voter in party affairs. He is not obliged to go out of the party to secure reforms, and if he does go out of the party he diminishes his chances of being useful for good within the party.

This being the case, it is the natural thing for every voter who participated in the primary to support the candidates nominated therein. And in view of the splendid platform adopted by his party and the great opportunity now open to it to serve the people in an extraordinary way, every Democratic voter ought to be not only willing but eager do this."

There are 17 marks required on the Democratic ticket. Mark in the square opposite the word DEMOCRATIC.

TEST OF PARTY UNITY

Direct primaries, introduced by popular vote several years ago, are skillfully and persistently avoided by the Republicans, their idea apparently being that it is all right for Democrats but all wrong for Republicans. The policy of the latter is to stand back and enjoy any possible discomfiture that may result from a direct primary campaign but to stand ready all the time for any accessions to their own forces by reason of the famity differences of their opponents.

The time has come when the great test of party unity is to be had. The direct system is built on the doctrine of majority control. The people have made the nominations ; it is for the party to stand by them. No doubt after the sharp encounter of the primary campaign, the temptation to beat somebody is great. That is just what the Republicans want and it will be to their complete satisfaction to see as many Democrats beaten as possible.

True Democrats need not be appealed to to avoid such a condition of affairs. It is a true Democratic principle that the people shall rule, and if their vote has named the various candidates for office, the plain duty now is to support them.

Election day we face this grave question : Shall we as Democrats, whatever our family differences, yield to the popular will and stand by the candidates the people have selected ?

We have too much confidence in the Democrats of this county to believe that they will, by indifference or otherwise, avoid this question. The party, as a whole, can afford to bury a lot of direct primary talk, and be a unit to bury the Republican party instead.

So far as our candidates are concerned, we have good ones from Harrington down to the last one on the County ticket. They are men of unswerving Democratic faith ; they are men of character and business energy, and they are men whom the Democrats will delight to honor. Let us avoid controversies and small talk and get down to the real business of the campaign. We want our party to succeed, and to accomplish it, let us each do our share of this important work.

There are 17 marks required on the Democratic ticket. Mark in the square opposite the word DEMOCRATIC.

A WORTHY UNDERTAKING

In our advertising columns of today's issue there appears notice of an enterprise to be started by the Young Men's Club of the Methodist Protestant Church, Chestertown, looking toward the uplift of the young people of Chestertown along educational lines.

Although fathered by the above mentioned organization, it is not intended that the project should be viewed in the light of a denominational venture, nor operated to further the interest of any religious organization. It is an effort, pure and simple, to help everybody in the town whose lot in life has prevented them from reaping the benefits of scholastic teaching, and who are willing to embrace an opportunity to devote an hour in the evening in an endeavor to improve themselves in those branches which go to make up a general education.

The method of teaching to be adopted will be, in the main, the lecture system. Those in charge of instruction will be experienced teachers, and their efforts will be largely directed toward interesting any who attend by talks—these to be made both as interesting and as profitable as it is possible to make educational themes. Therefore, prospective students need not fear the imposition of any tasks which might be a burden and which might cause embarrassment. If the teaching is to be a benefit such benefit will be the result of class room instruction alone, no outside work being required, except from those who specially desire it.

The branches to be taught have not been definitely determined upon, but mathematics, English and elementary science will form the basis of the curriculum; other subjects will be added as the occasion demands.

It is to be hoped that the young people of the town will respond to the efforts being made for their improvement. This is no money making scheme; the instructors offer their services without pay, and their aim is entirely to promote the welfare of the uneducated

It seems, too, that this is an opportunity to be grabbed at. Those who spend their time on street corners, on the steps of public buildings, and in other places—all of which contribute nothing to their good, but, on the contrary, are sources of evil; such then should not begrudge an hour devoted to their improvement in those branches of education in which they are deficient, the result of which deficiency is to preclude all chance of bettering their social and material condition.

Then let there be a ready response to the efforts of the Club, and it is safe to say those who do attend the night school will vote it one of the most beneficial institutions of the town. Let every citizen give it their encouragment and aid by searching out the boys and inducing them to avail themselves of this golden opportunity.

Republican Campaign Canard Nailed

To the Democratic Voters of Kent County:

Some of the Republican candidates are saying that if the Anti-Organization candidates had won, that some of us would support the Republican ticket.

This is absolutely false, and we defy any responsible Republican to name a single candidate, or any prominent Organization voter, who ever made any such statement. We have always declared openly that we would abide by the decision of the Democratic voters and give our hearty support to the nominee, whether he be Anti or Organization, nor have we heard any of our friends speak otherwise.

We are Democrats and ask the support of all, without regard to faction.

The Republicans have no chance to win except by Democratic votes, and are trying to get these necessary votes by willful misrepresentation. Don't be misled.

THE Democratic ticket in Kent is one of unusual ability and fitness and there is no reason whatever why every Democrat should not vote for them. Every man who voted in the Democratic Primaries owes it to himself, to his friends and to his Party, to support the nominees.

THE Grand Jury at the present term of court are to be congratulated upon their expeditious work and especially upon calling attention to the sale of Jamacia Ginger.

Since the gallon-a-month law cut out the supply of drinkables in Kent county, many of the thirsty have found what they call a most effective substitute in Jamacia Ginger and some grocers did a rushing business before they discovered that the limited and infrequent demand for the preparation for domestic purposes had been overshadowed by its new use. Because of the shape of the bottle the name of "bullets" was popularly applied to them and as many as 60 have been picked up near the court house on Monday morning.

In the Talbot Circuit Court in a test case the judges declared "imitation extracts of lemon, ginger, vanilla and kindred preparations containing alcohol" to come within "spirituous, fermented and intoxicating beverages" forbidden by the local option law to be sold in Talbot county.

State's Attorney Charles J. Butler has published a warning to merchants and traders not to sell such preparations, and declaring that all salesmen taking or receiving orders for same will be prosecuted in the future.

States Attorney Vickers also warns the merchants through this action of the Grand Jury.

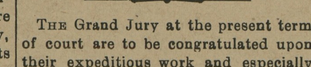

The attention is called to the speed maniacs is also timely.

REPUBLICAN ADMINISTRATION

The late Senator Rayner said about the Lowndes administration·

"Admitting all that is claimed for the Legislature of 1896 and 1898, I unhesitatingly say that so far as public and private honor were concerned they presented a ghastly scene of riot and corruption. It was a disgrace and a reproach to the fair name of the State."

Are the Republicans any better now than they were then? This is the thing to consider Mr. Voter.

THERE is a message on page 5 about gloves, shirts, neckwear and hats, that ought to interest every good dresser. Turn to this advertisement and see what Bordley & Sons are offering in these lines. They also carry the largest line of sweaters to be found in town.
