DEATHS

In the NEWS last week was noted the death of Mrs. Rose Strong, widow of Edgar R. Strong, at Mercy Hospital, Friday, Jan. 7th, 1915, in her 50th year. She leaves seven sons and four daughters, besides two brothers, Messrs. James W. and Nelson Crouch and a sister, Mrs. Harry Hudson. The deceased was a daughter of the late Capt. Wm. Crouch, of Piney Neck, and had lived on the farm on Grey's Inn Creek most of her married life. The partiality resulting from a long and intimate acquaintance, and a warm and well-tried friendship is exceedingly apt to betray surviving friends into eulogies of the dead too elaborate to be deemed altogether truthful. Aware of this, the writer of this brief notice would avoid this pardonable error, and endeavor, while obeying the dictates of sincere friendship, to speak of this most estimable lady as she really was.

As a high-minded, intelligent, true-hearted woman she was sincere, candid and honorable; as a companion, affable, cheerful and congenial; as a neighbor, kind and generous; as mistress of her family, considerate; as a mother, devoted, patient and affectionate; as a friend, constant and true.

Possessing in an eminent degree that "charity which hopeth all things," she was ever slow to believe ill of any one; and none more willing to give, according to her ability, to those in need. But the distinguishing trait in the character of Mrs. Rose Strong was that contented, happy disposition which some call philosophy, but which she knew was genuine religion. She had learned the great lesson of the Gospel—"In whatsoever state I am therewith to be content." As a christian she was sincere, conscientious and devout. As a graft into the vine she had tried to live in the Lord, and finally experienced that "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord."

The funeral was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Crouch Sunday afternoo at 1 o'clock, Dr. L. E. Barrett officiating, interment in the secluded and hallowed burial ground at St. Paul's cemetery. Messrs. A. L. Sparks and Fred. G. Usilton sang several selections while Dr. Barrett spoke in a most impressive and eulogistic manner of the deceased. The pall bearers were: Messrs. Jos. M. Watkins, J. Biddle Hossinger, M. A. Toulson, W. B. Strong, Merrick Clements and Fred. G. Usilton, Undertaker, Charles L. Dodd.

Mrs. Margaret H Long, wife of Mr. Charles Long, and daughter of Mr. H. E. Seney, of Kennodyville, died last Monday after a long illness of spinal trouble, aged 41 years. The funeral was held in Kennedyville M. P. Church Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock, Rev Frank S. Cain officiating. Interment in Kennedyville cemetery. Undertaker Krusen.

Mrs. Ann Virginia DeGaw, wife of the late George L. DeGaw, and daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wm. M. Leonard, died at her late residence, 1311 Hollins street, Baltimore, Md., on December 30, last, after an illness of two weeks. Death was due to Bronchitis. Mrs A. V. DeGaw is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Viola M. Groves, of Arlington, Md., and Mrs. Wm. Wheeler, of New York, and one son, Marvin L. DeGaw, of Baltimore; one sister, Mrs. Chas. Hudson, of Baltimore, and five Grandchildren, respectively, Messrs. Wm. Norman, Paul DeGaw and Leonard O. Groves, of Arlington, Md; Miss Emma Mae Wheeler and Master Elmer Wheeler. Mrs. A. V. DeGaw was related to the late Col. John Denning, of Kent County, Maryland.

Gary Leaverton died at the home of his son, Joseph, at Lewis, Del., on Sunday, after a long illness of Bright's disease. He was a native of Kent county and farmed near Hynson Chapel for many years. Later he removed to St. Mary's and tenanted the Morris farms. He was an ardent Republican in politics, an industrious and intelligent citizen and of high character. He leaves several brothers one of whom Mr. I. R. Leaverton, is of Kent, besides five children, viz., Joseph, of Lewis; Gary H., who sails on a ship from New York to Mexico; Emma, a trained nurse in the West; Mrs. Julia Forwood, of Baltimore, and Miss Estella. He was 72 years old. The remains were brought to Chestertown Tuesday morning on the train and interred in Chester cemetery, Rev. [illegible] E. Barrett officiating at the services. The bearers were W. Edw. and A. C. Loud, R. C. and Frank Leaverton, W. F. Scoone and M. W. Thomas. C. L. Dodd, undertaker.

TILGHMAN SHAFER

Tilghman Shafer died at his home in Kennedyville Tuesday afternoon after only a few days illness of pneumonia, aged 77. It was a great shock to the community and to the whole county when his sad demise was heard.

In the respect that is accorded to men who have fought their way to success through unfavorable environment we find an unconscious recognition of the intrinsid worth of character which can not only endure so rough a test, but gain new strength through the discipline. The following history sets forth briefly the steps by which our subject, a substantial business man of Kennedyville, overcame the disadvantages of his early life.

Mr. Shafer was born in Allentown, Pa., August 7, 1839, a son of John and Theresa (Roeder) Shafer, also natives of the Keystone State, the latter born in Northampton County. The Shafer family is of German origin and was founded in Pennsylvania as early as 1750.

As our subject lost his father when only three years of age, he was reared by his maternal grandfather, George Roeder, who lived upon a farm near Kennedyville, in Kent County, Md., where Mr. Shafer grew to manhood, receiving a good public-school education. At the age of eighteen he began learning the blacksmith trade, serving a three years' apprenticeship with his half-brother in Harmony, Kent County, and has since worked at that occupation December 27, 1861, he located in Kennedyville, succeeding to the business of C. B. Krusen, and in 1870 also embarked in the wheelwright business. Seven years later he admitted John Medders to partnership and that connection was continued until 1895, when Mr. Shafer again became sole owner. In connection with work at his trades he also sold carriages, machinery and farm implements, and was agent for the American Philadelphia Fire Insurance Company, having in 1893 purchased the machinery, carriages and fire insurance books belonging to J. H. Ireland. In 1888 he also established a creamery, and successfully engaged in the manufacture of butter. H. L. Davies was later admitted to membership in the firm, but November 1, 1897, he retired by mutual consent, Richard Haggerty becoming a member of the firm known as T. Shafer & Co. Mr. Shafer discontinued the creamery business a few years ago, giving his whole attention to the firm of Shafer, Redmile & Co. Mr. Shafer was a wide-awake progressive business man, upright and honorable in all his dealings, and certainly deserves great credit for the wonderful success that he achieved.

On the 8th of October, 1868, Mr. Shafer was united in marriage to Miss Rachel J. Kelley, of Kent County, daughter of William Kelley. The two children born to them are both deceased and the wife died in march, 1872. He was again married, December 16, 1874, the lady of his choice being Miss Annie E. Parsons, a daughter of Thomas Parsons, and two children blessed this union, but only one is now living, Annie M. E., wife of Mr. Linwood Redmile. The second wife passed away August 26, 1877, and two years later Mr. Shafer wedded Miss Emma Copenhaver, of Baltimore, a daughter of Augustus and Elizabeth Copenhaver. To them were also born two children, but Emma C. is the only one now living.

Politically Mr. Shafer was an ar[illegible] advocate of the principles of the [illegible]cratic party, which he always [illegible] by his ballot, and from 1879 [illegible] most creditably served as cou[illegible] missioner. He has passed all [illegible] in the Knights of Pythias [illegible] Kennedyville and was eligible to [illegible] bership in the grand lodge. He has also filled some offices in Galena Lodge, I. O. O. F., to which he belonged. The family all attend the Methodist Protestant Church, of which he was steward for some time, and he always took a great interest in church and Sunday-school work, serving as superintendent of the latter for a number of years. He was an ardent worker in the temperance cause, doing all in his power to put down the liquor traffic. He possessed to a high degree the confidence, respect and esteem of all who knew him, and he had hosts of warm friends.

He was a valued director of the Chestertown Bank and a man who was faithful in the discharge of his every duty. The firm of Shafer, Redmile & Co. was composed of Mr Shafer, his son-in-law, Mr. Linwood Redmile, and Mr. Wm. T. Hague, and they enjoyed deservedly a large patronage. The deceased was every inch a man in all respects.

The funeral took place yesterday, Dr. D. L. Greenfield assisted by Rev F. S. Cain, officiating, interment in Chester cemetery. The active pall bearers at the grave were Messrs. William T. Hague, William Archibald, William S Hurlock, C. Harry Price, Dr. E. A. Scott, Fred. G. Usilton. The honorary bearers were Messrs. Frank C. Miller, Edward B. Pennington, Sr., Capt. Daniel [illegible] and officers and directors of the Chestertown Bank of Maryland. The Odd Fellows, of Galena, appointed bearers from the house.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Capel died at their home in Morrnee Monday, with interment on Thursday at Wesley Chapel. W. E. Hicks, undertaker.
