SNOW IN APRIL

April 17th, 1916.

To THE KENT NEWS:

Dear Sirs—I notice in your last issue when on April, 28, 1898, snow fell to the depth of one-tenth of an inch. The fall of snow on that day was nearer 6 inches than the tenth of an inch. It snowed the entire day with high wind and at 3 o'clock it was freezing. All the peaches were killed. While I am writing I will tell you a little more that happened on the 16th of the following May.

I had the 96 acres in wheat, the first I had ever had. At 4 o'clock 66 acres of it was entirely destroyed by hail, some of the stones measuring 5 in in diameter. Walter was then on the farm now owned by Mr. H. M. Baker. The other part was in wheat and all destroyed. Mr. H. Brown had a field good for 1000 bus. He got about 90 bushels of poor wheat. Yours truly,

BARTUS TREW.

EASTER'S MEANING

God's Wondrous Love For His Children, And The Greatest Of All Miracles

Yes, it's Easter. Don't you hear the bells chiming? The very air seems charged with enthusiasm. Even the birds seem to chirrup a new song, for the whole world is full of joy. You smile whether you feel like it or not, for the smile on every face you meet challenges you to it. Surely, Easter must mean much to the world. What does it mean to you?

To some Easter means an excuse to rival Cleopatra.

That dame of notorious name and unsavory reputation was an adept in suggestive dressing. With a wizard's skill she catered to the emotions of men, toyed with them a little and then abandoned them for a more promising subject for excitement. Masculine conquest is dear to the feminine heart, and some sweet maids seem unconscious of the price they pay to win. Compromised modesty is intoxicating in its appeal, the results are not unlike in any other intoxication. Every such occasion has its sobering time, usually it means consciousness of loss and shame. Oh, I know that you may not go the limit. Yet you will not deny that others will. There will be grand parades at fashionable resorts and every little hamlet will try to show itself as the "best ever." If this is all Easter means to you you surely are in need of a missionary.

To many others the day offers acceptable occasion for making gormands of themselves.

Easter eggs are the rule. Many a husky lad will try to see how many eggs he can eat today so that he can brag about it the rest of the year. Here and there the physician will be needed to relieve the egg-pain that results from the abuse of nature. That fellow is less man and more beast whose greatest glory lies in the quantity of eggs he can consume. If an occasion for excused gluttony is the meaning you attach to Easter you, too, are in need of a Missionary.

Easter commemorates the greatest of the world's miracles.

It has been said to be beyond reason. Probably it is beyond the reasoning caliber of mortal thinkers just as it is not common to experience. Yet the same argument would apply to many practical inventions that are now common. Once they were thought impossible, and their advocates scoffed at. Some have even been slain in ages past for daring to advocate their theories. Some day, also, the veil will be lifted from the Resurrection and men will see a reasonableness where now they see only perplexity. The fact is not less real because I cannot explain it any more than a complicated machine is a fiction because I cannot understand all about it. By applying myself I can learn about the machine if I have a mechanical mind, by trusting the teachings of the Master I can have his witness in my heart that what he has taught me is true.—Pennsylvania Grit.

WASHINGTON COLLEGE WINS TWO GAMES

Enright And Brown Pitch Great Base Ball—Washington Has a Great Team.

Coach Thomas Kibler has got a great base ball team at Washington this year. Three games have been played this year and Washington has won all of them. The base ball team that defeats Washington College this year will know that they have played a game when the nine innings are up.

Washington College won its first home game last Friday, defeating Ursinus, 2 to 1. Jack Enright pitched a great game. He struck out the first three men and 10 others later fell victims. Only two hits were made off him.

The Washington team played well. Captain Spedden making a spectacular one-hand stop in the ninth inning which kept Ursinus from tieing the score. He and Bourland had two hits each out of three times up.

Washington scored the first run in the fourth inning when Spedden, after making a hit, stole second and third and came home on Bourland's sacrifice fly. The other tally was made in the seventh, after two were out. Ursinus scored in the ninth inning on a hit, a walk and a sacrifice fly. This is the second game Washington has played this season, defeating Rock Hill 18 to 5.

Sacrificehits—Bourland, Lops. Stolen bases—Wallace 3, Spedden 2' Errickson, Bourland, Adams. Double play—Diemer to Barkley, Ziegler, to Kerr. Hit by pitcher—By Enright, 2. Bases on balls—Off Enright, 2; off Ziegler, 2. Struck out—By Enright, 13; by Ziegler, 7. Umpire—McGowan. Time—1.50

At Chester, Pa., last Saturday, the game of baseball between Washington College and the Pennsylvania Military College, was a farce.

The score was 30 to 0 in favor of Washington College. They hit and ran bases at will. Runs stolen bases, and base hits all went into double figures. The only interest in the game centered in the work of Floyd Brown, pitcher for Washington. He allowed neither hit nor run and only two men succeeded in reaching first base. Not an error of any sort marred the work of the visitors, their playing being of the highest class.
