THE STORE OF SERVICE

And it gives the sort of service that is most helpful to the woman who comes to Baltimore now and then to do her shopping.

That is because each section of the store is a specialty shop, and we have trained our people to a thorough and compelte knowledge of the goods they sell.

We have specialists who will tell you just the proper model of corset that will best suit your figure. We have specialists who will help you to select and design your hats. We have specialists who will assist you in picking out your dress, your suit, your lingerie, your gloves, hosiery and shoes. We have specialists who will show you how to dress your hair most becomingly.

And all these specialists are at your service without charge. It means something worthwhile to be a customer of Baltimore's Best Store.

VOTE FOR MR. WILSON

The following is an old campaign piece and is very appropriate at the present time.

When the lion eats grass like an ox,
And the fish worm swallows the whale
When the robins knits woolen socks,
And the hare is outrun by the snail;

When the seaserpents stand upright like men,
And doodle bugs travel like frogs,
When grasshoppers feed like the hen
And feathers are found on frogs.

When Thomas cats swim through the air,
And elephants roost on trees,
When insects in summer are rare,
And snuffs never make folks sneeze,

When fish creep over dry land,
And mules on velocipedes ride,
When foxes lay eggs in the sand,
And women in dress take no pride.

When Dutchmen no longer drink beer,
And girls go to preaching on time,
When Billy goats butt from the rear,
And treason no longer is a crime.

When humming birds bray like an ass,
And limburger smells like cologne,
When plowshares are made out of glass,
And hearts of true Americans out of stone.

When ideas grow in baboon's heads,
And wool on a hydraulic ram,
Then will the Democratic party be dead,
And the country won't be worth a cuss.

WASHINGTON PLAYS A GOOD GAME

The Johns Hopkins eleven defeated Washington College 33 to 6 at Homewood Saturday. The game was not as one-sided as the score indicates, but the Black and Blue warriors were masters of the situation at all times.

It was an interesting contest. All kinds of football were trotted out, brilliant runs, long kicks, plenty of forward passes and lots of hair-raising, open-field tackles. It was the sort of game that keeps the spectators on edge, and the enthusiasm bore witness to the fact that everyone present enjoyed it mightily.

The open plays of the visitors added to the spectacular aspect of the battle, but too great a reliance on this style of play probably injured Washington's chances, despite the fact that her only score came from a long run after a successful forward pass. The Chestertown players were prone to rely too strongly on its efficiency at the open game, especially in the first half. They essayed forward passes from first downs, losing the ball by interception, and several times when it looked as if they had the Hopkins rush-line on the run they switched their attack from the old game to the aerial route and lost the advantage that was beginning to accrue to them.

Hopkins stuck to straight football with one exception, a forward pass which just missed completion.

Hopkins scored twice in the second quarter and Washington once. After the second score Chestertown took off the lid and begin to use all the stuff they had in the bag. Brown started the ball moving with a 25-yard run from kick formation and followed it with an avalanche of aerial plays. The first missed. The second was completed for a short gain, the next one failed, and Brown went back to try for a 45 yard drop kick. Monkhouse miscued, however, and the ball went sailing over the Washington fullback's head. He fell on it, but it went to Hopkins on downs.

Brown Makes Pretty Run.

A 15 yard penalty dashed the Black and Blue chances and Tippett punted. Brown pulled off another 25-yard run and the side-line crowd realized that the usual Hopkins let-down was taking place. But the worst was yet to come. Freddie Wallace went back and shot the ball to Brown, who made a pretty 40-yard run through a broken field for a touchdown, eluding several tacklers by quick shifts and use of the stiff arm. He missed the goal.

At this point almost anything might have happened. Much of the visitors' confidence had returned. They were only one touchdown to the bad and for a few minutes had been playing Hopkins off her feet.

But Branham smashed the slate, and Hopkins finished the game a winner 33 to 6.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

A public hearing will be held before a Board of Engineer Officers at 2 o'clock p. m. on Friday, November 10, 1916, in room 429, 4th floor of the U. S. Custom House, corner Gay and Water streets, streets, Baltimore, Md, for the purpose of considering modifications in existing regulations for fishing structures in Chesapeake bay and its tributaries.

Existing regulations governing fishing structures in Chesapeake bay and tributaries may be obtained from the U. S. Engineer Office at Baltimore, Md., the U. S. Engineer Office at Washington, D. C. At either of the above offices may be seen maps showing localities in which fishing structures are now authorized.

All those interested in fishing or in navigation in the waters of Chesapeake bay or its tributaries are invited to attend the public hearing above announced and thereat to express their views. To secure accuracy of record those desiring to address the hearing are invited to present their views in writing as well as orally. Written communications will be received from those not able to attend the hearing.

NEW TRAP FOR RATS

Harvey Brewster, a Sussex county farmer being greatly annoyed with rats, which made away with his chickens and eggs, and after experimenting with little success, finally tried spreading sheets of sticky fly paper on the floor near the rat holes, after the chickens had gone to roost at night. Twelve huge rats were found rolled up in the stickey paper the first morning, and each morning since he has been finding additional rats, all fighting mad, but so stuck up that escape was impossible for them.

MR. JOHN S. VANDEGRIFT had the "Baltimore American" in Chestertown 4 o'clock Sunday morning. Four big truck loads of paper were in front of his shop on Cross street before Chestertown people were out of bed. The trucks, after delivering Mr. Vandegrift his papers, were driven on down the shore. This beats the record for early papers in Chestertown.
