He Never Spends A Dime

¶ The head of one of America's greatest Railroad Systems draws a salary of $50,000.00 per year but never spends a dime. Every single dime he gets goes at once into a "little dime bank" that he keeps about him.

¶ Years ago this man recognized the importance of little things, perceived the necessity of forming constructive habits, realized the wisdom of saving and made a resolution to save every dime that came into his hands. All necessity for saving, in his case, long since disappeared, yet the habit remains.

¶ Who knows to what extent this habit contributed to his achievements—contributed by building up that moral stamina which is the foundation of all success?

KENT LEADS STATE IN CORN YIELD

A. Earle Smith, of Queen Anne's, Wins First Prize on Cost of Production—Bonwill Wins 2nd and Gets Calf.

A Earle Smith, of Queen Anne's county, stands out among the farmers of Maryland as the champion corn grower of the State and was awarded the Governor's prize—a watch—when the Corn and Potato Club boys were received officially in the chamber of the House of Delegates The champion's record was 110.5 bushels to the acre, raised at an average cost of 15 5 cents per bushel, and his rating was 88.3 per cent.

The second in line was Thomas Bonwill, of Kent county, who was awarded the registered Holstein bull calf presented by State Treasurer John M. Dennis. Bonwill's record was 118 4 bushels per acre at a cost of 20.1 cents per bushel, and his rating was 81 1 per cent. While Bonwill's yield was greater than Smith's, the award was made to Smith because his crop was raised at less cost, this being one of the things which the Corn Club movement is trying to drive home in the education of the farmer boys.

Prizes were announced Thursday at the Maryland Week Exhibition at the Fifth Regiment Armory in three classes: Boys' Corn Clubs, vegetables and the amateur Class, In the prizes awarded the youthful corn growers of the State, only the excellence of the ears on exhibition was considered, and not the yield. The boys previously had been awarded prizes on yields and it was these prizes that entitled them to participate in the Home State Tour. To secure the maximum yield to the acre was the big thing to be done by the boys, but from many an acre that was entered in the contests some remarkably fine ears of corn were produced, and it was to the best of these that the prizes were awarded.

The list as announced was as follows:

WHITE CORN, EASTERN SHORE

First Prize, $7—Hopper Cosden, Longwood, Talbot county.
Second $5—James Cosden, Longwood, Talbot county.
Third, $3—Josiah Massey, Chestertown, Kent county.
Fourth, $2—Andrew Shortall, Easton, Talbot county.

YELLOW CORN EASTERN SHORE

First Prize, $7—J. Bounds, Newark, Worcester county.
Second, $5—J. Earl Smith, Queen Anne's county.
Third, $3—R. Bradford, Newark, Worcester county.
Fourth, $2—Boyd Hearn, Salisbury, Wicomico county.

In the Economic Department the Kent county winners were Minnie Cornelius, Helen Matthews and Clara Medders. These enjoyed a trip to Baltimore and elsewhere and had a fine time. iss Comstock accompanied them.

New Industry.—Mr. Wm. H. Truslow, of Pennsylvania, has purchased of Mr. H. P. Skipper about 50 acres of land on the Chester river opposite Chestertown. Mr. Truslow and his son Mr. Neal Truslow, will start a poultry farm and chicken fattening establishment. They will begin the erection of buildings soon and will bring about four thousand chickens here to raise.

CORN CLUB BOYS ROYALLY RECEIVED

Chestertown And Kent County Give The Home State Boys a Splendid Reception—Willing Workers Add to The Pleasure of All—Louis H. Wood, Prof. Mark Creasy, Hon. James Alfred Pearce, And Kennedyville Grange, All Share in the Program.

The Home State Tour boys arrived in Chestertown on time Sunday afternoon and notwithstanding the downpour of rain, were given a warm welcome Through the unfailing courtesy of Mr. L Bates Russell, the Lyceum was opened and lighted and an interesting program presented. The chairman welcomed the boys in a short address and introduced Mr. Robert Moffett, the Mayor, who formally handed them not only the keys to the city, but the combination to the hearts of all the people of Chestertown. Mr. Wm. L. Fowler, another member of the Council, was also present on the stage.

Guy Wilson, the Patrick Henry of the Corn Clubbers now on the Eastern Shore made the best speech of his life in response, telling the Mayor that Chestertown was not nearly as glad to have the boys as the boys were to have Chestertown.

County Agent Burrell was introduced with warm praise of his work, especially in connection with the organization of dairy interests. William F. Russell spoke for Mrs. Russell, chairman of the mothers' committee, who was detained by the vital business of getting dinner ready for the boys, which explanation elicited loud applause from the boys. Mr. Russell told them they could open any door in Chestertown, walk in and be at home.

R. Groome Parks, scoutmaster and a regular boys' fellow, was there with his troopers and welcomed the boys on their behalf. Allan A. Harris, vice-chairman; R. H. Collins, secretary, and H. F. Jeffers n, chairman of the entertainment committee, all spoke and the director of the tour explained its purposes and hopes, especially with reference to the proposition to make it an annual event, which has received much enthusiastic support from end to end of the route.

Rich Neck Invaded.

Incidental to the trip from Centreville to Chestertown the boys ran into the Rich Neck Farmers' reception under a beautiful arch of corn on the ear, put up in their honor. As a feature of the reception, W. Irving Walker and Chas. McKee offered a bushel of yellow and white pedigreed seed corn to the boys who would estimate nearest the number of shelled bushels used in the arch. It's a neat little mathematical calculation, and here it is to puzzle the schoolboys of the State:

Problem—The arch has cylindrical columns, each built of corn crib wire. In each column there are three lengths or sections of wire and each section is 11 feet 5 inches long and 48 inches wide In each column the second cylinder is dropped into the first five inches and the third is dropped into the second seven inches. In the centre of each column is a pole 30 feet long, which is 14 inches in diameter at the base and 12 inches at the top, shaped to graduate uniformly. Shelled corn of this type runs 84 per cent. of the weight on cob, in pounds.

Question—How many bushels shelled corn will the two columns produce?

The boys got something quite as nice as the problem at the Rich Neck reception in the shape of winesap apples, which they ate down to the seeds with unanimous approval.

Where The Boys Were Entertained

Many homes were opened to the boys and as far as can be learned favorable impressions were made. After the speeches at the Lyceum the boys were called out in pairs by Mr. Harry F Jefferson, chairman of the Entertainment Committee, and assigned to their hosts for the night, with instructions to greet them with a sweet smile and then the rainy day gloom came off like rouge in the surf, and they were happy again, and the boys carried out these instructions. The "live wire" in the bunch was Clifton Eisonrock, of Baltimore county, who said he belonged to Uncle Fred Talbott! He missed nothing. Here are the happy homes where the boys were entertained:

Frederick County—Earl Remsburgh, aged 17, Adamstown; Earl Ahalt, 18, Middletown, entertained by P. A. M. Brooks.

Garrett County—W. Spicher, 16, Accident; William Dodge, 11, Oakland; M. A. Toulson.

Alleghany County—R. N. Wilson, 14, Leister Hite, 16, Cumberland; R. H. Collins,

Washington County—Chas. Hyde, 18, Clearspring; Fiery Strite, 18, Clearspring; Mark Creasy.

Howard County—Orman Nichols, 14, Clarksville; Jerry Nichols, 12, Clarksville; W. B. Copper.

Montgomery County—William Harvey, 16, Brookville; Kenneth Barnsley, 17, Rockville; W. B. Russell.

Prince Georges County—William E. Bickerd, 17, Glendale; Roy Sellner, 13, Camp Spring; A. A. Harris.

Baltimore County—Oswald Grau, 16, Long Green; Clifton Eisonrock, Long Green; C. R. Twilley.

Carroll County—Frank Conoway, 16, Mt. Airy; Russell Leatherwood, 19, Mt. Airy; Wm. B. Usilton.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Warner, Baltimore, W. W. Hubbard's.

Prof. McHenry, and Mr. Horn, College Park, Wm. W. Beck's.

Charles County—Lemuel Wilmer, 16, and Barlette Frere, 13; P. G. Wilmer.

St. Mary's County—Maguire Mattingly, 15, and Jas. L. Mattingly, 16, near Leonardtown; Fred. G. Usilton.

Alleghany County—Guy Wilson—H. F. Jefferson.

Sunday evening was spent by some at the different churches while others rested quietly at home being well entertained by their host and families.

Program at The High School

The boys all assembled at the Chestertown High School at 9 o'clock Monday morning and were delighted with the cheerful and smiling welcome given by the bevy of pretty girls and manly boys. Prof. Mark Creasy had arranged a splendid opening including a song by school "My Maryland," a well-rendered solo by Miss Helen Baxter, an address on "Preparedness" by Master Robert Emory Atkinson and a visit to the different departments of the school. Hon James Alfred Pearce made the chief address of the day on the rewards that always come to those who strive, with a special caution to the boys to devote their minds also to public affairs, so that in their manhood they may intelligently exercise their right to vote, etc.

The Chairman called on Master Guy Wilson to respond, which he did in a fine manner, and the director of the tour told of how the Home State Tour started and how it could never have succeeded but for the hospitality of the communities along the route and the wide-awake interest of the people. He said that by the end of the tour more than 1,000 automobiles would have been used and the boys would have been entertained in the best homes in Maryland. He also announced plans under way to put the Home State Tour on a permanent basis.

Beautiful souvenir knives with a plate on handle inscribed "Chestertown" was given the boys from the citizens of the town. The Club remarked that this capped the climax and was the best yet, and with a yell, said, "We thank you!" An oyster scald had been arranged for on Capt. E. W. Emory's shore, but owing to the inclemency of the weather and the solicitude for the boys' health, it was called off, and a trip to paper mill substituted. This was certainly a wise decision. Mr. Louis Wood, the efficient superintendent, received the boys with open arms and made the visit one of the marked events of the Tour of the Shore. They carried away with them souvenirs in the shape of small pieces of cardboard which happened to be a part of a shipment sent to New Zealand from this mill

The following autoists carried the boys to Cecilton from Chestertown, Mr. Merrick Clements having charge of the transportation: L. L. Burrell, Philip G. Wilmer, W. B. Copper, Raymond Wilkins, Clifton L. Jarrell, Allan A. Harris, Chas. N. Satterfield, W. B. Crow, W. F. Jarrell, Geo. Baldwin, Harry F. Jefferson, Millbourn A. Toulson. Mrs. Collins, Mrs. Toulson and Mrs. Harris also accompanied the party to Cecilton.

Stopped at Kennedyville.

At Kennedyville the boys were given a reception by the Grange and school, taught by Misses Mettie Loud and Hannah Bell. Messrs. Redmile, Archibald, Kennedy, Hill, Urie, Rasin, Pennington, Dempsey, and a company of representative ladies were there to greet the tourists. George R. Rasin presided and Edward R. Pennington, on behalf of the Grange, made an appropriate speech.

Guy Wilson responded and Assistant State Club Agent McHenry gave a history of the club work in the State, adding that Kennedyville would certainly have the next club organized in Kent.

A basket of apples sent in by Samuel Comly went the way of all edibles offered the boys.

Outside Cecilton the boys were met by Chairmen W. H. Alderson, Alexander Wilson and Dr. R J. McDowell of the general transportation and entertainment committees, in automobiles, and a little farther on the roadside was crowded with school children waving flags. The boys piled out and formed behind the school children, followed by the machines. No time was lost getting down to business, which consisted of a long table ready for an attack.

While Miss Mary Emily Clark, principal of the high school and secretary of the committee, constituted herself a most agreeable welcoming committee of one, assisted by everybody else, the mothers' committee, Mrs. George W. Padley, Mrs. Charles Griffith and Mrs. Enoch Short, with a dozen assistants, proceeded to bring on the things that made eyes pop out and mouths water. It was an old-fashioned chicken dinner and the boys were much obliged and said so several times in loud tones of voice. The Chestestown committeemen and ladies were invited, too, and between them and the boys and the local folk—well, no chickens ever did more heroic service.

Proposes Large Cash Prizes.

Dr. McDowell delivered an address of welcome and thought the boys should have a cash prize. "I have here," he said holding it up, "a $5 bill to contribute and I'd like to see three prizes of $1,000, $500 and $250 for the Corn and Potato Club champions."

"To which," added M. A. Toulson, of Chestertown, later, "I would like to add $5 to start a second prize, because I had two of these boys at my house last night and I've never seen finer young men."

During the dinner music was furnished by Miss Clara Manlove and Dallas Manlove on the piano and violin.
