A Twelve-Year-Old Boy

A BANKER IN another town tells of a 12 year old boy who started a savings account seven years ago.

The boy's father was the "hired man" on a farm and could give the boy no special advantages.

But the boy's savings grew larger and larger.

He did many things to earn money.

At the age of 18 he had over $850 in the bank. One day he came to talk with the banker about drawing out his money to go into the farming business with his father.

The banker took a friendly interest in this new venture and helped them get started. They are doing well—there is no question about the future of that boy. He is admired by all who know him.

Has your boy a chance like that?
