CHESTERTOWN - FEB. 22, 1890

The New Assessment.

There is a growing feeling against a new assessment of real estate at this time, provided some plan can be devised to reach personal property now escaping taxation and bring it into the taxable basis. It will certainly prove a delicate and difficult task to get at a fair valuation of real estate in this time of special agricultural distress and depreciation of farming land.

The Legislature, we are sure, will appreciate the situation and wisely determine the matter.

Where Would the Tax Be Paid?

The subject of taxing mortgages serenely bobbed up every now and then in the farmers' meeting last Tuesday. The sentiment was about equally divided as to the practicability of laying such a tax. One important question was, we think, answered erroneously. Upon mortgages held elsewhere on land in Kent county, where would the tax be paid? It was answered—in Kent county. This answer cannot be correct if it is the mortgage itself which is taxed. It must be a species of property and come under the head of personal property, and therefore is subject to the provision of the State Constitution, section 57, article 3, which makes all personal property taxable where the owner resides. This would seriously militate against the advantages our people might otherwise derive from such a tax, as about one-half the gross sum in mortgages against Kent county farms is held outside the county, and much of it out of the State.

DEMOCRATS TO APPEAL TO THE SUPREME COURT.—After the reading of the journal in the House of Representatives on Monday morning Mr. Carlisle arose and gave notice that the Democrats protested and would continue to protest against the rule embodied in the new code which gave the speaker power to make a quorum by counting members who were present but not voting. This rule the Democrats considered unconstitutional, and they meant as soon as an opportunity offered to take the question involved in it to a higher tribunal than the House for final settlement. This means that the question will be carried to the Supreme Court.

THE trials in Baltimore of forty-three colored men charged with participation in the Navassa massacre are ended and thirty-seven are convicted. The American says "the court has done its work with unusual ability and promptness. The trials have been fair and thorough. The three cases of murder in the first degree will now go to the Supreme Court for a decision upon the vexed question of jurisdiction. In all respects the whole affair is one of the most peculiar that has ever come before the courts of the country." Three of the men were sentenced to be hung March 28; seven to ten years in the Albany penitentiary; four, five years; two, two years.

THE Baltimore Sun's Washington correspondent says that in his recent conversation with Mr. Cleveland the latter made no comment of any kind on the present attitude or supposed attitude of Gov. Hill on ballot reform, but remarked with emphasis that he approved altogether of Gov. Hill's first veto of the ballot-reform bill sent to him by the republicans of the New York Legislature.

TERRIBLE RETRIBUTION.—A man named Corvett, near Crawfordville, in Arkansas, murdered a young woman in a shocking manner. The neighbors, learning who had committed the deed, took Corvett to the scene of the murder, and with an axe cut off his arms and legs and severed his head from his body. They then built a fire and burned the body with its members.

MR. W. W. JOHNSON, Baltimore's new postmaster, took charge of the office last Saturday, when Mr. Frank Brown, with a few pleasant remarks, to which his successor responded in appropiate words, retired to private life.

ENCROACHMENTS ON THE RIGHTS OF THE STATES.—Another step towards the centralization of power in the federal government is now contemplated by the republican majority in the House. Representative Wickham, of Ohio, has introduced a bill which provides that the districts from which the members of the Fifty-second Congress shall be elected shall be the same in territory and boundaries as those from which the members of the Fifty-first Congress were elected, and, following immediately upon its heels, Senator Hoar introduced a similar bill in the Senate. The motive to the introduction of these bills is said to be a desire to head off the democrats of Ohio, who have just carried that State, from redistricting it so as to give them a fair show in the election of members of Congress. As the districts are at present arranged in that State, it requires over seventy-nine thousand democratic votes to elect a Representative, while twenty-six thousand republican votes suffice for the same purpose. The result is that in a State where the democratic party is in the majority, the republicans control sixteen out of the twenty-one members. The republican party seems to be grasping at straws to fasten their hold on federal power. A more desperate game than they have played at Washington this winter has never been known in the political history of the country. They are preparing to pass a federal election law without parallel in the annals of legislation and without authority contained in the constitution. They have permitted the Speaker of the House to usurp authority for the almost avowed purpose of seating their own party men whose seats are contested. And not until the whole country was amazed and disgusted at the spectacle did some of the more sagacious members call a halt. Even now the rules adopted are little more than Speaker Reed's rulings reduced to writing and if in addition to all this, they lay their hand upon the States and control them in changing their own congressional districts, they will have stripped the people pretty much of their sovereignty in choosing their Representatives in Congress.

A FIGHT IN CHESTER RIVER.—The Queenstown News gives the following particulars of a recent battle in Chester river between the police sloop Helen M. Baughman and the schooner Lightning: The Baughman surprised the schooner at work in illegal waters. A command to surrender was derisively laughed at and replied to by a volley from small arms. Captain Horney instantly got down to work and soon the Lightning was flying before the wind all sail set and intent on self-preservation. The Lightning was overhauled and several cannon shots caused her captian to heave to. A prize crew was put aboard and the captured oyster boat towed into the little bay town of Winchester, where a justice of the peace gave the captain a hearing on Monday morning and fined him $50 and cost, for having unculled oysters on board. The fine and costs were paid on Tuesday and the vessel released.

FOR CONGRESS.

It is early yet to discuss congressional candidates, but the matter is up nevertheless. The election is eight months off. The redistricting bill is not yet passed and many things may occur to turn things "topsy turvey" before the time for nominating conventions shall arrive. Politicians will plan, however, and the people will talk. The redistricting bill will not affect this district. The old Eastern Shore lines will remain as they are. It suits us if it suits the politicians.

Who shall succeed Mr. Gibson? This gentleman is serving out his third term and he has made a most excellent representative. It is said he is already in the field for a fourth term—that at the expiration of that term he will positively refuse to accept another nomination. The Centreville Observer states that Queen Anne's is credited with a number of aspirants for the nomination, namely: Senator John B. Brown, A. Randolph Weedon, Esq., ex-Senator W. T. P. Turpin, and Col. W. Scott Roberts, of the Centreville Record. No one has been mentioned thus far from Caroline. Kent will put in her claim at the proper time and hopes to make that claim good. Our county has been left "out in the cold" long enough and she is not willing to keep the back seat any longer. She will not be left again this time if she can prevent it!

The counties "below the Choptank" should not make a claim for this position as they have about all there is in the way of the offices already. We have heard several names mentioned, however. Henry Page, Esq., of Somerset, and ex-Gov. Henry Lloyd, of Dorchester, are among these. Both of these gentlemen are in every respect good congressional timber, but it is not their turn now! The worthy President of the Senate, Hon. R. F. Brattan, states positively that he is not a candidate, and would not accept a nomination if tendered him.

Discouraged!

Mr. Chapman, the State Farmers' Alliance organizer, dropped in to see us last Wednesday and we spent a few minutes in discussing the practical advantages of the Alliance. We told him frankly that the impression of our people was that the Grange suited them better than his Alliance.

He said he attended the meeting of the Farmers' League on Tuesday and was discouraged by the outlook. He thought that, while the League was very properly moving to lop off local extravagances and reduce taxation, yet, admitting the utmost success in these endeavors, it would go a very little way toward relieving the existing depression. It would be so slight the farmer would hardly feel it.

Here is the way Mr. Chapman looks at the matter, and any one who will take the trouble to consider the facts presented will see the force of his reasoning: Suppose this movement on Tuesday results in saving to the county $1,000 on the jail expenses; $3,000 on the management of public roads; $3,000 by the abolition of the district collector system and the appointment of a county treasurer, according to Mr. Griffith's suggestion; and say $1,000 in other leakages; we have then a total saving of $8,000 in county expenses—a very liberal estimate, and certainly a sum worth trying to save if now improperly expended—what is the extent of the relief? The farmer who is taxed on $1,000 would save just eighty cents in one year! He who is taxed for $5,000 will save the great sum of four dollars! The owner of $10,000 worth of property would make eight dollars in the course of a year! And so on.

On the other hand, Mr. Chapman argues that by uniting with the Alliance, or any other movement along the line of its methods, a saving of fifty times the amounts above mentioned can be realized. The Alliance is nearly four million strong in this country now. It is just organized in Maryland and has 1,000 members. In Georgia alone it saved the farmers in a single year $200,000 in the purchase of fertilizers. It has lowered the cost of everything they use; wagons, buggies, and luxuries. It has taught the farmers the use of the most powerful weapon in the struggle of peace or war—co-operation. Divided they were the easy prey of the monopolist and trusts, but united in a phalanx of four millions strong, with one wing resting on the shores of Maine, the other on the Pacific coast, the farmers have become a power. It will be protential in remedying political evils that exist to the detriment of the farmer. It will reform the iniquitous tariff; it will elect Grover Cleveland—the exponent of tariff reform and righteous laws—President of the United States in 1892; it will break up the grain gamblers and bring again a healthy system of buying and selling, and opening the markets of the world for our grain by a liberal tariff policy; it will restore the paying prices of yore for our corn and wheat and fruits.

A rosy picture surely this is! And there is certainly something in it. The political reference is ours. The Alliance is not a political organization.

CENTREVILLE would be a most excellent place for the holding of the next Congressional Convention. Easy of access with first-class railroad facilities, hotel and hall accommodations and a most hospitable people, Centreville is the equal of any town in the district for the assembling of such a convention. —Observer.

All right—you can have the convention if you'll give us the candidate.

THE annual statement of The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, which appears in another column, shows the remarkable progress made by this institution during twelve months. The record made by the Mutual eclipses its own best efforts, and naturally exceeds that of any other financial institution in the world. The new business written amounted to $151,602,483.37, an increase of $48,388,222.05 over the new risks assumed in 1888, and a gain of $82,144,015 over the business of 1887—showing a continuous and phenomenal advance. The assets of the Mutual Life now aggregate $136,461,328.02, indicating a gain for the year of $10,319,174.46. The company has now an outstanding insurance account amounting to $565,049,933-62. Its total income from all sources is reported at $31,119,919.62. It paid to its members during the year for death claims and endowments and other obligations $15,200,608.38. Up to date the Mutual had 128,310 policies in force, showing a gain in membership for the year of 23,941, thus forming the biggest army of policy-holders in any regular Life Insurance Company in the world. The surplus fund was increased $1,717,184.81 in 1889, and the Mutual now has $9,658,248.44 over and above every liability.

STANLEY'S TRAVELS.—Mr. George T. Moore, of Worton, has taken the agency for the third and fifth districts to sell Henry M. Stanley's Travels in the Wilds of Africa. This book contains thrilling accounts of famous expeditions, miraculous escapes, wild sports of the jungle and plain, curious customs of savage races, marvelous discoveries in the wilds of Africa, graphic description of beautiful scenery, fertile valleys, vast forests, mighty rivers and cataracts, mines of untold wealth, etc. Mr. Moore will canvass the districts and call upon the people in person for their subscriptions to this highly interesting work.

Conference Entertainment.

This matter is now concerning the members of the M. P. Church here. A meeting was held and largely attended in the lecture room of the church last Wednesday evening, and the pastor, Rev. W. R. Graham, was authorized to appoint a committee of six ladies and six gentlemen to aid him in securing homes for the members of the Conference, which meets in Chestertown April 2, next.

The body will consist of about 230 members—a large number to entertain in a town of our size. But that the hospitality of our people will be equal to the task there is not the slightest doubt. The meeting of the Conference here will be a most interesting event to the community and it is to be hoped will also advance the religious cause.

The committee appointed for the purpose will begin work next week, and they hope to find that the heads of families in the town have considered the matter, and will be able to favorably respond.

The Magistrates' Court.

A MORGAN'S CREEK "PEAR CIDER" CASE.

A local-option-pear-cider case was heard before Justice Burgess last Monday. Very great interest was manifested in the case, and the Register's office was full to overflowing during the continuance of the hearing. Mr. C. W. Chrisfield was the party charged with violating the local option law by selling intoxicating drinks at his store in Morgans' Creek Neck. The State was represented by Marion deK. Smith, Esq., and the defendant by Wm. M. Slay, Esq.

Rev. A. T. Melvin made the charge. He stated that he went into the store Feb. 13 and asked for a bottle of pear cider. Mr. Croney took from the shelf a bottle marked pear cider and delivered it to him. Chrisfield called to Croney from another part of the store to let him have it for fifteen cents, but immediately after told him not to let him have it at any price. Croney grabbed the bottle and said "I know what you are up to." Mr. M. replied that his purpose was to determine the character of the article and, if found intoxicating, to present him. Mr. Slay wanted to know if he proposed to drink it, or in what other way he would learn its character? Mr. Melvin said he would try it on a dog. Mr. Chrisfield's store is situated at Corktown, about a mile from Morgan's Creek bridge.

Witnesses for the State as follows were examined: Wesley McClary, Herbert McClary, James McKee, John McKee, Samuel Nickerson, Theodore Davis and Frank Harris; also, the following colored: Rob. Johnson, Jos. Cotton, Isaac Cotton, Emory Hynson, Wesley Caulk and Dora Caulk. For the defense Mr. Simeon Davis was the only witness called. Most of the witnesses testified to the harmless character of Mr. C.'s apple and pear cider. Some of them had drank large quantities without the slightest effect. One of the witnesses acknowledged that he was a little sick once after indulging, but attributed that to eating candy. Mr. Slay, in a short argument, said he doubted whether another store in Kent county—with the same number of witnesses brought forward to impeach—could show a clearer record than Mr. Chrisfield. His whole neighborhood had been scoured and no evidence of intoxicating drinks was discovered. Justice Burgess declared Mr. C. not guilty—that there was no evidence to hold him.

BIXLER VS. TURNER.

Wm. H. Bixler & Co., Baltimore, against Jos. Turner—suit for $38.95 for repairing a boat; before Justice Burgess. It seems that Turner sent his boat to Bixler for repair in June, 1887, and about a month after she sprung aleak in Chester river and damaged phosphate to the amount of $74.50, which was put in as a claim for damages in bar. H. H. Barroll, Esq., appeared for Turner, and J. D. Urie, Esq., for Bixler. The justice gave judgment for Bixler for $41.86 and costs, and refused to allow anything in bar.

A WATCH THIEF.

Justice Johnson had John Page, colored, before him a few days ago, on the charge of stealing a watch from D. T. Williamson. Constable Henly made the arrest. Page has gone to the House of Correction for six months.

FIGHTING OVER ONE CENT.

A shooting affair took place in Quaker Neck last Wednesday, and the parties are to have a hearing before Justice Johnson on Monday. George Deans and John Russell, two young colored men, were playing "crap" near Quaker Neck wharf, when they got into a wrangle over a cent, and a pistol and club were brought into the play. Russell charges Dean with shooting at him twice—the balls from the pistol, however, missed him and fell into the river near an oysterman at work tonging. Dean charges Russell with trying to "knock him in the head" with a stone. Constable Henley arrested the parties and they are in jail.

"OLD DAN" WENT FOR THEM.

Wm. Cannon and James Martin, colored, charged with stealing a satchel of clothing from Dan. Wright last Saturday night were arrested by Constable Simpson and had a hearing before Justice Dodd, who sentenced them to the House of Correction for three months each.

College Notes.

The new bell has been put in position, and while it is a great improvement over its cracked predecessor, yet in fullness and richness of tone, it can not be said to excel.

The Shakespeare club, on account of the exercises of the Mt. Vernon Literary Society this evening, held its meeting last night at Miss Hubbard's. The play of Romeo and Juliet was finished, and Tempest was decided upon as the next play to be read.

The Mt. Vernon Literary Society will commemorate to a certain extent the birthday of the immortal George by some very interesting extra exercises this evening, to which the public is cordially invited.

Mrs. Satterfield and little girl, of Greensboro', are the guests of Prof. and Mrs. Micou.

Mr. Harry Rose, of Cordova, a former student, was here this week.

A BOY'S SUICIDE.—James Shockley, a 16 year-old boy living at Snow Hill, Md., committed suicide on Saturday by shooting himself with a shot gun. Young Shockley attended a party in his neighborhood on the evening preceding contrary to his father's wishes, and was punished by the latter for his disobedience on his return. This seemed to weigh heavily upon the boy's mind, and he told his sister that he intended to kill himself, describing to her minutely the manner in which he would proceed. Shortly afterward he left home with his gun. His failure to return home that night seemed to occasion little anxiety. The next day, Sunday, his father stated that he had dreamed his son was lying dead in a wood close by. A search was made and the boy's body was found in the precise spot indicated in the dream. He had pressed the muzzle of the gun to his left side, placed his right hand in his pocket and pulled the trigger with a toe of one foot. The entire load had entered the body just below the heart, causing instant death.

REAL ESTATE SOLD.—Mrs. Carolene L. Hynson and Richard D. Hynson, Esq., as executors of Richard Hynson, sold the following real estate Tuesday:

A BIG PILE OF LUMBER.—The steamer "Conoho" arrived at Chestertown last Monday direct from Roanoke river loaded with lumber for T. W. Eliason, Jr. It made a big pile when delivered upon the wharf and consisted of cypress fencing, railing, shingles, &c. Mr. Eliason is giving special attention to the lumber business and those proposing to build or repair will find it to their interest to call and see him. Farmers and others having fences to erect should look at his new stock.

NEW BRIDGE AT CRUMPTON.—Commissioners Shallcross and Morgan, of Kent, and Catlin, of Queen Anne's, met in Crumpton last week and decided to build a new bridge across the river at that point. In the fall of 1888 a new draw was built and now it is the intention to build the two ends of the bridge new. The contract has been awarded to Mr. R. N. Boston of this town.

THE TEMPERANCE COMMITTEE VISITED ANNAPOLIS.—The committee appointed at the temperance meeting held at Stam's Hall last week visited Annapolis on Wednesday and laid before the legislative temperance committee the bill adopted on that occasion asking for additional legislation to strengthen our present local option law and render it more effective. The committee was given a respectful hearing and was promised that the matter should receive attention, but of course nothing in the shape of definite legislation could be promised. The following are the persons who went from the county, as far as could be ascertained: Rev. R. W. Todd, Dr. J. T. Twilley, J. H. Baker, Miss. Ida Crew, W. G. Skirven, B. F. H. Caulk, R. S. Griffith, J. S. Harris, R. T. Turner, Jr., T. E. Norris and Norris Barnard.

The paper will contain 24 columns, 20 inches long, printed on fine white paper, and filled with choice reading, locals, illustrations, etc., all for 25 cents. Send in your names at once. The paper ought to have a large circulation. Every postoffice in the county should have a list. Chestertown will take its full share no doubt. The space for advertising is limited, so that those desiring to avail themselves of this as an advertising medium should notify us at once. Terms of advertising 50c. per inch, with liberal discount for longer space.

"BUSINESS IS BUSINESS."—In order to more largely engage in the grain business and extend his operations Mr. B. F. Fleming has increased the size of his store room, and added to his former operations that of a general feed store. So that now the farmer can always find a ready purchaser for his grain right here in Chestertown, and also supply himself with lime, coal, wood or seeds of various kinds. Builders and whitewashers will find it to their interest to call and get his prices. Mr. Fleming gives special attention to feed stuffs for hogs, cattle and horses.

THE NEW STAMPS.—Our new postmaster appears to be in special favor with the department at Washington. A special invoice of the new stamp issues was received last Thursday from Mr. Clarkson with instructions not to use the same before the 22d, (to-day)—the birthday of the Father of this country is to be thus celebrated by the postoffice department. The Chestertown office is thus complimented by a courtesy extended to only the largest first-class offices of the country. The new stamps are a great improvement upon the old. In size they are much smaller and the colors are deeper and prettier in every way. Postmaster Brown expects to have his new boxes in place next week.

REV. I. G. FOSSOCHT, Galena, writes: The M. E. Parsonage of this place was unceremoniously entered on last Saturday night, by about fifty persons; who assulted its unarmed and innocent occupants, with hams, eggs, sausage, beef, coffee, chickens, sugar, flour, lemons, oranges, bananas, butter, corn and numerous other articles. Pastor received articles for study use, a "Life of Christ," calendar, a lovely waste basket, covered with creton and ornamented with fancy bells, ribbons and silver plated handles; also a knife, which opens both ways intended for a preacher who don't care which way his sermons out, &c. Mrs. F. a handsome knit shoulder cape. We can never express our appreciation of these tokens of social and other tieship. God bless these people. Meeting still going on. Monday 6 went forward and 3 converted. God is with us. I have not been able to preach since Thursday of last week.

THE PROHIBITION LAW of KENT CO.,

passed in 1878, simply forbids "selling spirituous or fermented liquors or alcoholic bitters" under a penalty of a fine of from $5c to $300. As amended in 1884 it provides that the party convicted, on failure to pay his fine, shall "be confined in the Maryland House of Correction" not exceeding six months. It is so framed as to cover intoxicating liquors of every name, or of no name, the language being: "Any person or persons or body corporate, who shall in any way barter or sell intoxicating drinks of any kind or description. A druggist may sell only for medicinal purposes, upon the written bone fide prescription of a regular physician practicing in said county, containing the name of the person for whom the liquor, alcoholic bitters or other intoxicants is prescribed, the kind and quantity of the same, the date of the prescription and the name of the physician making it, all written in ink; the date of filling such prescription shall be endorsed on the back thereof, by the druggist filling the same, in ink, who shall file and keep all such prescriptions," exhibit same to any State's attorney, grand jury or justice calling therefor; no prescription to be made except in case of "actual sickness" and when such is "absolutely required as a medicine," and these shall not serve for more than one purchase"—not to be drunk on the premises except in case of sudden illness; in such cases, when delay would be dangerous, a druggist may sell without a prescription.
