Chestertown boasts of some good checker players, but by universal agreement there are two extra fine players in the persons of Prof. O. C. Blades and Jos. N. Wheatley. It has been sometime since the lovers of the sport have been able to put these two together. But last Thursday night in Barnett's tonsorial parlors these two expert checker artists staged a three hour battle of wits and when Capt. Wilson, the Harford county champion, and Jesse Medders, the would be Queen street champion, tallied up the score the games stood 17 for Wheatley and 6 for Blades. Lawrence Brown and Ralph Barnett refereed the contests.

Lynch, Kent County, Woman Tells Interesting Story

Crippled with Rheumatism and run down for years. Now feels ten years younger.

Sounds like a fish story, doesn't it, but read what Mrs. Kate Collins, of Lynch, has to say and if you don't believe it write her and she will tell you personally.

Mrs. Collins is well-known in the county, and everybody who knows her can testify as to how she was run down with Rheumatism for years. During the past year she was getting so bad that she was unable to carry on her regular household duties, and she had planned to retire from active life this winter, and go live with her sister in Delaware.

A few months ago some of her folks heard about the wonderful success Chiropractic has had with Rheumatism, so she called on Dr. Dill, in Chestertown, who made an examination, and said he could help her.

Mrs. Collins eagerly placed herself under Dr. Dill's care, and in 5 weeks the Rheumatism entirely disappeared. Mrs. Collins was also constipated all her life. Her bowels now move with clock-work regularity without assistance or medicine of any kind. She also now eats anything she wants without pain or distress. Mrs. Collins advises all sick people to call on Dr. Dill and says she feels 26 years younger and full of pep.

A FINE AFFAIR

"Wide Hall," the magnificent home of Wilbur W. Hubbard, Chestertown, was the scene Monday of the annual dinner of the Peerless Fertilizer Co., which Mr. Hubbard is the President. The business meeting of the Peerless Fertilizer Co. took place at their offices in the Hubbard Building at 11 o'clock at which all the former officers were re-elected. The annual dinner was a most pleasant and enjoyable affair. It was a buffet dinner a la cafateria and the menu consisted of roast turkey, chicken salad, croquets and peas, white and sweet potatoes, hot rolls and Maryland biscuits, home made frozen custard and cake, coffee, cigars, orange punch, etc. A number of informal after dinner talks were given and all voted the affair one of the best ever given by the host in the fourteen years of the company's existence. Among those present were Wilbur W. Hubbard, Wilbur R. Hubbard, David B. Ford, Jesse Medders, W. H. Elliott, Howard B. Strong, C. M. Newcomb, L. R. Duyer, Simon Lecates, John D. Urie, Dr. C. W. Whaland, John H. Newnam, J. D. Bacchus, Dr. Paul E. Titsworth, John N. Bennett, Charles M. Lloyd, Wm. B. Usilton, W. Roy Merrick, Charles Ross, H. H. Klinefelter, H. W. Kratzer, W. S. Collins, Rev. N. O. Gibson, H. F. Jefferson, Col. Wm. J. Vannort, W. Irving Walker, Rev. C. L. Atwater, A. S. Turner, A. E. Culver, R. G. Nicholson, W. B. Copper, H. B. Derrick.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my dear wife, Susan Moffett, who died December 8, 1923, one month ago.

Only a few lines dear wife
To say I will never forget
The happy years we spent together
For the memory lives with me yet.
And if you were only here
My heart would be more light
For you would always seem to cheer me up,
And make things seem more bright
But our lives are only parting
And its hard to bear the grief,
But I will put my trust in God,
And I am sure will find relief.
But my heart is ever aching,
Although I smile each day
For my thoughts are with my loved ones,
That God has taken away.

Husband.
