C. R. Stafford Burned to Death!

Trapped within a burning stable at Grasonville, Monday night about 7.30, Charles Richard Stafford, 21-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Stafford, was burned to death, together with two horses and one cow, which he had made a vain effort to save from the fire.

Young Safford was at home with his three sisters, Alice, Lilly Mae, and Avis, his parents being at the home of a neighbor, when the fire was discovered. He immediately ran to the stable where the live stock had been locked up for the night, while his sisters gave the alarm. The fire by this time had gained much headway, because of the hay which was stored in the loft. After getting the door open the young man untied one horse and as he was leading it from the stable, it fell dead, overcome by the dense smoke which had filled the building before the door was opened. Stafford then ran back into the flaming building to get the other horse, and it is thought in the excitement the horse kicked him, crushing his skull. When he did not appear the second time, his sisters made frantic efforts to reach him, help having not yet arrived, but this was impossible as the bulding was then a mass of flames.

The remains were found directly back of the horse he was attempting to get out, his skull crushed, and his left leg was burned completely off. They were removed to the undertaking establishment of R. H. Eddins in Centreville. Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

The cause of the fire is unknown, this making the fourth fire in Grasonville within the last three months, the origin of which has not been determined. The deceased was a nephew to Wm. B. Stafford, of Chestertown, who attended the funeral.

WEDDING NOTES

St. John's P. E. Chapel, Betterton, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday evening, Jan. 2, at eight o'clock, when Madge Cordelia, the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Wilmer, became the bride of Harry Scotten Meeks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Meeks. The chapel was beautifully decorated with cut flowers and potted plants. The bridal party entered the church to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march skillfully rendered by Mrs. Evelyn Harris. Rev. S. S. Hepbron officiated and the beautiful and impressive ring ceremony was used. The bride was charmingly gowned in beige canton crepe with accessories to match and carried a bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Ethel Wilmer, was gowned in pink georgette and carried pink sweet peas. The bride was met at the chancel rail by the groom and his best man, Norman Crew. The ushers were Allan Robinson and Merritt Sutton. Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held. They were the recipients of many beautiful and useful presents including silver and cut glass. The bride's traveling dress was navy poiret twill. For the past two years the bride has been a popular teacher in Annapolis Grammar School. The young couple have the best wishes of their many friends. They will reside on the Crewe farm where the groom is engaged in farming.

On Wednesday at 3 o'clock John Powell, of Church Hill, and Miss Matilda Valentine, of Philadelphia, were quietly married at the M. E. parsonage by Rev. Mr. Sard, pastor. After a reception at the home of the groom's parents the young couple left for a short bridal trip and on their return will reside on the Wetherbury farm, near Church Hill. They received many handsome and costly gifts consisting of silver cut glass and furniture including a Queen Anne period bedroom suit of seven pieces.

Miss Hazel Vernon. stenographer in the office of State Attorney Joshua Clayton at Elkton, surprised her friends on Saturday, by announcing her marriage in Chestertown, on November 28, by the Rev. T. J. Sard, to Raymond M. Larzalere, of North East.

Gaylord Porter Ivens and Miss Clara Onito Boyles were married at Queen Anne, Tuesday evening, Jan. 15th, at 7 o'clock by the Rev. J. A. Rood.

A number of relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. McIntyre, of Galena, gave them a pleasant surprise on Tuesday evening, it being their 50th wedding anniversary. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. George Dunlap, Wilmington; Mr. and Mrs. J.Raymond Thornley and family, of Sassafras; Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. Satterfield, Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Bramble, Mrs. Frank Satterfield, Mrs. Wm. Hudson, Miss Maude Miller, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Davis and family, of Chestertown.
