COUNTY AGENTS NOTES

Tomato Growers Organized

The tomato growers of Kent and Queen Anne's counties are better organized than ever before. Their object is to better their conditions in that industry and have something to say about the price they are to receive for the tomatoes they grow.

Plant Beds

Betterton, Still Pond, Chestertown and Fairlee communities attention. Through community tomato plant beds, such as we had at Betterton last year, tomato growers have been able to increase their yield of tomatoes per acre. I have made arrangements with County Agent A. D. Radebaugh, who started this work in Maryland, to attend the following meetings that have been arranged with Kent growers for the purpose of organizing community tomato plant beds in Kent for this year, if tomatoes will be grown.

Monday, March 17th, Betterton High School at 2 p. m., for Betterton and Still Pond.

Tuesday, March 18th, Chestertown Court House, at 9.30 a. m.

Tuesday, March 18th, Fairlee, at 1.30 p. m.

All tomato growers and canners of Kent county are invited to attend these meetings.

Dairy Meetings

Arrangements have been made with the Extension Dairy Specialist and Agronomy Specialist for a series of eight dairymen's meetings, to be held on March 25th, 26th, 27th and 28th at Millington, Massey, Kennedyville, Still Pond, Worton, Chestertown, Fairlee and Rock Hall, to give assistance to Kent dairymen in calculating balanced rations for their cows and how to save in the feed bill. Particulars next week.

Bishop M. W. Clair, of the M. E. Church, will preach at Janes M. E. Church, colored, Sunday, March 16, at 2.30 p. m. He is just from Africa where he has been preaching for the last four years. It is a great treat to have him come to Chestertown. The public is invited to hear him. The pastor will preach at 10.30 and 7 p.m.

The Green Spring Valley Club will hunt near Centreville next week. George Brice and daughter, of New Jersey will join them.

Robert Huey, Jr., of 100 Mt. Vernon avenue, Chestertown, won the $5 prize in this week's health limerick contest conducted by a Wilmington paper. Robert is 10 years old and in Grade 5. Every week the limerick editor found an answer from Robert and is very glad that the judges awarded him a prize. Robert's winning line to the limerick was:

A quart of milk every day, says Babe Ruth,
And I'm king of the diamond, forsooth;
I once went without,
And that day I struck out.
"Milk Makes Bone, 'Pep' and Teeth; Heed the Truth!"

Capt. George Whaland and brother of Rock Hall, presented to State's Attorney Beck this week a splendid rock fish weighing 19 pounds. Capt. Whaland says there seems to be plenty of rock.

Departed this life March 5th, 1924, Mrs. Lizzie Worden.

Dearest friend thou hast left us, here to weep;
Gone to her rest in peaceful slumber,
No more pains will you endure,
For life's victory you secured, what sorrows fills our hearts, when thy voice we hear on earth no more.

By a friend, Mrs. E. C. B.
