AIRPLANE BOMBS KILLING DUCKS

Bodies Of Hundreds Of Birds Washed Ashore Near Betterton — State Official Blames Poison Gas In Shot Dropped By Army Flyers.

Reports that phosphorene gas contained in bombs dropped from airplanes is killing hundreds of ducks and swans in Chesapeake Bay and the Sassafras river are being investigated by E. Lee LeCompte, State Game Warden, it was announced this week. Hundreds of dead canvasbacks and swans floated ashore near Betterton this week.

The fowls apparently have been killed by eating small bombs about the size of a pea which are dropped from airplanes in their maneuvers over the water. These bombs sink to the bottom.

Ducks and swans seek their food on the bottom of the bay, and it is believed they pick up the bombs, mistaking them for gravel.

Acting on advices from the game warden, Howard Owens has sent four of the birds to the biological survey at Washington, where the contents of their stomachs are being analyzed. Mr. LeCompte is awaiting a report on this examination before taking any further steps in the matter, he said.

The airplanes fly over the water from their fields at the Edgewood and Aberdeen arsenals, it was said. The ducks and swans die within a few hours after eating the small bombs, it is declared.

Between 500 and 1,000 ducks were killed within two weeks at Christmas time in the same manner. He expressed indignation that agencies of the Federal Government, which has charge of the stocking and upkeep of waters, should thus deplete the animal life in the bay.

GEORGE WILSON DUNLAP DIES VERY SUDDENLY

George Wilson Dulap, 61 years old, of 2114 Washington street, Wilmington, died suddenly Saturday evening. He was preparing to go down town and as he reached the door he became violently ill and died three hours later. Mr. Dunlap was born in Galena, but has made his home in Wilmington for the past 37 years. The deceased was a member of McCabe M. E. Church, and a salesman for Williams & Company.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mamie Miller Dunlap, one daughter, Mrs. C. Tarbutton; a sister, Mrs. Anna Drum, of Pittsburg, and one brother, Edwin W. Dunlap, of Wilmington.

He and his wife visited Chas. N. Satterfield and wife the previous Sunday and attended Christ M. P. Church. He was a man of high character and enjoyed the friendship of a large circle. He married Miss Mamie Miller, of Kent county, about three years ago.

The funeral services were held at his late residence on Wednesday afternoon at 2.30 with interment in Riverview cemetery.

WORTON COOLING STATION ORDERED CLOSED

A notice was posted Wednesday on the cooling Station at Worton notifying all patrons, that on and after April 1st, 1924, the creamery would be closed, and that their milk would be received at either Chestertown or Kennedyville.

The order is a result of the changes being enacted to nsure clean milk. The farmers have to make certain changes to comply with rules and the creameries also have other rules to obey. One of these requirements is a mechanical washer and other additions. Samuel Wallis, the efficient manager, of the Worton plant, will go to the new cooling Station in Sussex county, Del.

There are 82 patrons of this creamery whose output will amount to over 5,000 pounds per day. All this milk will be received at Chestertown and Kennedyville necessitating more help at these plants.

Trucks are now making a business of hauling milk so that the delivery of milk is being put on a business basis as the occasion demands. In this way the farmer can have more time to devote to his farm.

The News joins with the Worton farmers in regretting the closing of this industry.

WEDDING NOTES

A very pretty wedding took place in Holy Cross Chapel, Millington, when Miss Anna Pauline Radnor, became the bride of Karl C. Gebert, of Cleveland, Ohio. The church was tastily trimmed in evergreens and cut flowers. At 2 o'clock the bride entered on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage and was met at the altar by the groom, and the best man, Ernest H. Radnor, Rev. Mr Saunders performed the very impressive ring ceremony. The bride was becomingly attired in dark blue traveling suit, with hat and gloves to match, and wore a corsage bouquet of white rose and lilies of the valley. The bride's maid, Miss Gertrude Rekfuss, of Philadelphia, wore dark blue canton crepe and hat to match and wore a corsage bouquet of pink roses. The ushers were Paul Comegys, and T. S. Pippin. After the ceremony a number of friends gathered at the home of the bride's parents, for a reception. At 3 o'clock they left for their future home in Cleveland, Ohio.

Marion L. Legg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Legg, of near town, and A. Marie Bennett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Bennett, of Washington Avenue, town, were quietly married at the St. James Parsonage, Friday, March 14th, 10:30 a. m., 1924.

Miss Catherine Estelle Kendall, daughter of Mrs. Columbus Kendall, of Rock Hall, and Mr. Goldey Morgan Jones, of Chestertown, were married Saturday morning, March eighth, by the Rev. Charles H. Reed at his home near Wesley Chapel. The happy couple were accompanied by Mrs. Millard Gibson, cousin of the bride, and Miss Sarah Jones and Mr. Noble Jones, sister and brother of the groom. After a short trip to Philadelphia the young couple are residing at the home of the groom's mother in Chestertown.

ELECTRIC LIGHTS TO INCREASE EGG LAYING

Egg production by the use of electric lights is being made possible by one of the energetic poultrymen in this county. These lights are turned on early each morning, an hour or more before the break of day and the hens then get busy and begin to lay. The value of production has been greatly increased by this method, but it his also been proven that eggs thus laid will not hatch as well as the eggs laid in the regular process. Several farmers tried the eggs and proved to their satisfaction that the hatch was a smaller percentage and that the chickens were more timid and would not grow as fast as the chickens hatched from other eggs.

In order to keep thieves from his farm, a well-known Kent farmer has an alarm clock that rings at regular intervals during the night. Whenever it rings the farmer fires a gun from his bedroom window. This frightens any robber from the farm and retards any one contemplating burglary.
