DODGE BROTHERS ROADSTER

Important Improvements in the Construction of Dodge Brothers Motor Cars

CONVENIENT GEAR SHIFT ARRANGEMENT

The hand gear shift lever has been moved forward, thus allowing easy access to the driver's seat. The throw of this lever hns been shortened to faciliate easy gear shifting, while a strong spring prevents the lever from rattling on its seat. A lock built in the transmission locks the gears in the neutral position. This lock has been approved by the Underwriters' Laboratories.

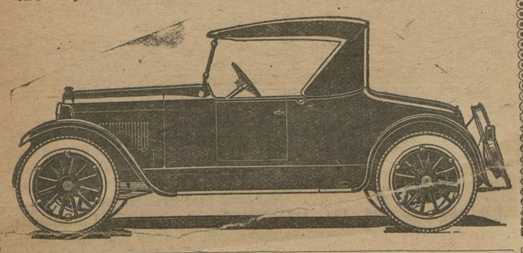

ATTRACTIVE STEERING WHEEL AND HAND CONTROL

The steering wheel is of moulded fibre construction and holds the spider firmly without the aid of screws.

The spark and hand levers are shorter, conveniently located, and are retained by friction on a handsome nickle quadrant. The horn wire is now carried inside the steering column.

ACCESSIBLE BRAKE CONTROL

The hand brake lever has been moved forward out of the way in an easily reached position.

The seniors will have a heavy program. Four track contests, including a relay race of four boys; and three field events are included in the list for the senior unlimited contestants. WROTE TO THE WRONG GIRL

Recently one of our most fastidious young men bought a pair of overalls of the sewing girl who had made them. He very promptly wrote her a letter with all the effusiveness necessary in such a case and in due time received a reply which, however, was void of the romance usual in such cases. Here it is: "I am a working girl it is true but I make a good living and I do not care to support a husband, as I would probably have to do, if I married some silly noodle who gets mashed on a girl he never saw. Permit me to further say that I do not know how my car got in that pair of overalls, and that when I do marry, if ever, it will be some fellow who can afford something better than a forty-nine cent pair of breeches.

Our Relations With The American Telephone and Telegraph Company

THE Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company has an arrangement with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, the parent Company of the Bell System, under which that Company renders to the C. and P., in common with the other Bell operating companies throughout the country, many essential and valuable services.

This plan is necessary and works for true economy. The payment to the American Telephone and Telegraph Company is in no sense a royalty but a reasonable payment for services actually performed.

The Services

The American Telephone and Telegraph Company:

Maintains a great research department for the study of every branch of the telephone art. Here are developed and made available to the C. and P. thousands of improvements and inventions, many of them covered by patents, which make for economy and progress in furnishing telephone service.

Provides engineering, legal, accounting and financial advice necessary to the conduct of the system.

Furnishes all telephone receivers and transmitters used by subscribers, and exchanges them when they become obsolete or unfit for service.

Why the Arrangement is Necessary

The C. and P. must have the benefit of every helpful new method and invention to keep abreast of the developments in the telephone art. Further, the plant must be designed and operated in harmony with the plants of all the other Bell operating companies, so that every C. and P. subscriber may be able to talk throughout the length and breadth of the nation-wide Bell System.

This is made possible only by a centralized staff of experts working in co-operation with the staffs of the C. and P. and other Bell operating companies.

Why it is Economical

It is obvious that one collective staff of engineers and other experts working on the fundamental problems of all the Bell Companies costs less than for each company to build up its own staff, even if this were feasible.

Thus at a reasonable cost, the C. and P. Company is provided with many essential services which it would be powerless to perform for itself, and others which it could obtain only at costs which would be prohibitive.

Under this broad general arrangement, the whole history of the Bell System is marked by a long series of important improvements which have effected large economies. Indeed it has been and is still the mainspring in the development of the telephone industry.

While the relationship is a proper subject of inquiry, and has met with general approval by many of the state regulating bodies and the courts, we are anxious that our patrons should understand the arrangement as being in the true interests of telephone users.
