GRACE SAGE TO GIVE PLAY RECITAL AT LYCEUM

Miss Grace Sage, well-known reader of plays, will give a play recital in the Lyceum Theatre, next Monday, May 12th, under auspices of Emmanuel Guild of the Chestertown P. E. Church.

Grace Sages's art is generous and deep—gracious, amiable and finished. She is so purposeful—so observant and true in characterization and so firm in her touch in handling a scene that no play of hers fails to be of compelling interest.

Her characters are real people—you know their appearance — their walk—the flavor of their conversation and the secrets of their thoughts and you see them at a crisis in their lives contributing to situations powerful and poignant.

After several years of sincere, persistent effort and study Miss Sage has reached a place where her art occupies a field quite singular and alone among the interpreters of the modern drama. Gifted with good taste, a keen sense of humor and a deep sympathy — Miss Sage has shown to hundreds of audiences that back of a charming personality is intelligence and unusual breadth of vision. Miss Sage has been member of the Faculty of The Leland Powers School of Boston. During the recent war she was active in war work at Newport, R. I., where she arranged concerts and entertainments and served as hostess to the thousands of sailors and soldiers quartered there.
