Where's the fellow who said the Chautauqua wouldn't "go" in Chestertown?

Reappointment of David J. Lewis. Western Maryland Democrat, to his $10,000 post as a member of the Federal Tariff Commission, for the recess of Congress, was announced on Monday by President Coolidge.

It is understood, according to dispatches, that the President plans to nominate Mr. Lewis for the 12-year term when the Senate reconvenes.

THE GRAIN MERGER

The recent $26,000,000 merger of large grain interests which has been effected at Chicago and sponsored by the American Bureau Federation, is being attacked by certain farm and daily newspapers, especially those of Indiana and alleged to be authorized by the Indiana Farm Bureau Federation. These unjust criticisms, it is believed, are creating an altogether erroneous impression of the merits of the new Grain Marketing Company and it is feared they will create a feeling of suspicion in the minds of the average farmer as to the real motive underlying the transaction.

Mr. Melvin Stewart, State Secretary of the Maryland Farm Bureau Federation has replied to at least one of these criticisms which have been received at his office in Baltimore, in which he upholds the merger and calls attention to the fact that with such men as O. E. Bradfute, Gray Silver and J. W. Coverdale, president, Washington Representative and secretary, respectfully, of the American Farm Bureau Federation, and their colleagues at the head of the Company, every confidence should be given them in their endeavors to benefit the grain farmers of the country.

Mr. Stewart says these men are all honorable farmer leaders and that they have no idea or intention of allowing the grain farmers to he handed a gold brick. Maryland's attitude, he says, is to await further developments rather than to throw bricks.

DAVIS AND THE FARMERS

If one wants common sense and common honesty in politics read that portion of John W. Davis' speech of acceptance dealing with the farmers of the country.

"To the farmers of the United States we promise not patronage but such laws and such administration of laws as will enable them to prosper in their own right * * * They feel today, more severely, perhaps, than any others the depressing effects of discriminatory taxation. Buying in a protected market and selling in a market open to the world, they have been forced to contribute to the profits of those in other industries with no compensating benefit to themselves.

"Recent experience has proved, if proof were needed, that an effort to help the farmer by a tariff on his products is the baldest political false pretence. He knows as well as any economist can tell him that the price he gets for his surplus crop depends on conditions at the place of sale; and he realizes that his permanent prosperity depends not upon the decrease through crop shortages of the quantity he has to sell, but upon the restoration and expansion of the markets to which his goods must go. * * * We propose to see to it that the discrimination which the tariff makes against him shall be removed; that his government by doing its share toword a European settlement shall help to enlarge and revive his foreign markets; this instead of lip service to the principles of co-operative marketing the forces of the government shall be put actively at work to lend assistance to these endeavors; that the farmer shall be supplied not only with information on problems of production but with information such as the dealer now receives concerning the probable use and demand for his product, so that he may be enabled to think as intelligently as the dealer in terms of consumption and demand."

State To Enforce Law Forbidding Oil Pollution.

Orders were sent Monday to all deputy commanders of the State Conservation Commission by Commissioner Swepson Earle to be on the lookout for violation of the new Federal law prohibiting oil pollution of Maryland waters by steamships, industrial plants or other agencies.

Fines for violations go as high as $1000. Mr. Earle said that three months have been given for those affected to familiarize themselves with the law. The United States Engineer's office will prosecute in the Federal Court cases developed by State officials.

FARMING DE LUXE

Hardly in the most lavishly staged motion picture was there ever elaborated such an affecting agricultural scene as that recently portrayed of our president forking hay on a Vermont farm.

The President rode to the hay field in a high priced car. He was attended by his secretary, C. Bascomb Slemp, a great harvester himself, not of hay, but of southern Republican delegates, and also of campaign funds on the "Meadows of Dan." Added to the scene were ten secret service men, three moving picture men, ten photographers, and a great retinue of newspaper men.

Cincinnatus leaving his plow in the furrow, Putnam loosing his steed from his plow and riding to Lexington after hearing "the shot heard round the world," were agricultural scenes of like interest and value. But they were simple and unwitnessed acts.

Not so with President Coolidge pitching hay for the sake of his neighbor, the benefit of the moving picture industry, the good of the Republican party, and the votes of the farmers of America.

C. D. BENSON TO LEAD IN STATE CAMPAIGN

To Work For Davis As Head Of Executive Committee Of Advisory Board.—Ritchie Predicts Election Of Six Democratic Congressmen From Maryland.

Carville D. Benson, who two years ago piloted W. Cabell Bruce to the United States Senatorship, will direct the Maryland Campaign for Davis and Bryan this year. Mr. Benson recently was appointed State Insurance Commissioner.

Mr. Benson's nominal position will be chairman of the executive committee of the advisory committee to the State Central Committee.

Governor Ritchie stirred enthusiasm by a five-minute talk in which he predicted the election of six Democratic Congressmen from Maryland.

"We all have our part to play to add Maryland's eight votes to enough other electoral votes to put John W. Davis in the White House," said the Governor. "He believes in the things we believe in and he is not afraid to declare against the Ku Klux Klan. He believes in the kind of religious freedom which empowers each state to regulate its own system of education. He opposes Federal encroachment on the rights of the States. Everything impels us to put Maryland in the Democratic column and see that it stays there."

After reciting briefly the claims of the Congressional candidates to support and predicting their election, the Governor concluded:

"To do this is not the work of one man or woman or any set of men or women; all of us must join. Let us make the Federal Government a better Government, a cheaper Government and one that will put out corrupt and dishonest officials."

A SPLENDID CREED

Do not keep the alabaster boxes of your kindness and tenderness sealed up until your friends are dead. Fill their lives with sweetness, speak approving, cheering words while their ears can hear them, and while their hearts can be thrilled and made happier. The kind things you meant to say when they are dead and gone, say before they go. The flowers you meant to send for their coffins send now to brighten and sweeten their homes before they leave them.

If my friends have any alabaster boxes laid away full of fragrant perfumes of sympathy, good-will and affection, which they intend to break over my dead body, I would prefer they would bring them out in my weary and troubled hours and open them that I may be refreshed, cheered and made better while I need them. I would rather have a plain coffin without a flower, a funeral without an eulogy, than a life without the sweetness of love and good-will.

Let us learn to anoint our friends beforehand for their burials. Post mortem kindness does not cheer the burdened spirit, flowers on the coffin cast no fragrance backward over the weary way. Remember we travel the road of life but once, let us all try to make the world better by our having lived.

Do good because it is right to do good, not with the hope of reward or fear of punishment.
