MILLIONS TO BE SPENT ON MILK APPARATUS

George G. Pennington, Manager of the Pennington Construction Co., of Kennedyville, has contracted with the Supplee - Wills - Jones Milk Company to remodel the milk plants and to put in glass sanitary tanks to hold the milk which will run into glass sanitary tank cars. These cars will deliver the milk to the city in tanks instead of in cans as now used.

The change from cans to glass tanks will cost considerable. This method of delivering milk to the city assures patrons better and cleaner milk.

The railroad company will furnish the tank but the milk company will have to supply the tanks. These tanks will cost about $10,000 apiece.

Kent farmers will now realize the importance of carrying out the rules promulgated last May for insuring cleanliness on the farm and in the delivery of milk to the cooling stations.

FINANCIAL EXPERT NAMED BY WASHINGTON COLLEGE

The second stage of the Washington College drive to complete its $250,000 endowment fund was begun when the board of visitors and governors of the college elected Dr. Albertus Perry, of the Methodist Board of Education, of Chicago, as field vice-president of Washington College.

Dr. Perry will devote his entire time to raising money for the institution.

For six years Dr. Perry has acted as financial expert in the department of finance fo the board of education of the Methodist Episcopal Church, with the official title of conference director of college advance movements. His work has included actibities in campaigns for Evansville College, Central Wesleyan, Simpson and Dickerson. During the war he operated for the Red Cross in Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa and Nebraska.

GAME SEASON NOW OPENING

It is unlawful to purchase, hunt or kill Chinese Ringnecked Pheasants at any time in Maryland.

The Game Division is receiving numerous inquiries with regard to the open season on game. The first open season will be on wild water-fowl, including wild ducks, geese, and brant, November 1 to January 31, and the bag limit is 25 per day of all species and not over four persons allowed to a rig; therefore, it is unlawful for any set of hunters to take over 100 in any one day and there must not be less than four in the party. It is also unlawful to pursue, hunt or kill wild water-fowl from a boat of any description; except under certain local laws sink boxes are allowed.

The open season for partridge (quail) ruffed grouse, woodcock, rabbits, wild turkey, squirrels and doves is November 10 to January 1st, inclusive. The bag limit per day on partridges is 12; ruffed grouse, 2; doves, 25; woodcock, 6; rabbits, 10; squirrels, 25; wild turkey, 4 in any one season.

It is unlawful to sell or purchase bob-white quail, Chinese ringnecked pheasants, ruffed grouse or wild turkey; unlawful to kill Chinese ringnecked pheasants, either male or female, under a penalty of not less than $25, nor not more than $100. It is unlawful to sell or purchase wild ducks, geese or brant and it is unlawful to kill swan or summer duck (wood-duck). It is illegal to export any game (wild-fowl excepted) out of Maryland; however, a non-resident licensed hunter may take out as personal baggage one day's bag limit of any specie of upland game; unlawful to hunt at night-time and on Sunday.

New Store In Chestertown

The Shore Radio Service, Inc., will open a radio store in Chestertown, on Nov. 15th, in Sutton's Garage, on Cannon street, in Chestertown. This new venture by three Chestertown young men will give this section the latest in radio service. See their adv. elsewhere.. Elsewhere in the News S. W. Granbery, Chestertown, tells you about his radio service.
