

A Perfect Day

No form of out-door sport affords greater exhilaration than a tramp through the fields at this season—in the brisk, frosty morning air.

The startled rabbitt, which scampers away from your feet, the whirr of the quail or pheasant, the occasional shot at migrating ducks, offer a range of shooting unequaled at any other season.

The Perfect Gun

Then if you're carrying a Lefever Shotgun and using Peters' Shells you can truly come home at night and say, "Twas a perfect day".

Quick action and perfect balance are the prime requirements in a gun. And you want a shell which will deliver a hard hitting, evenly distributed shot pattern.

Lefever Guns and Peters' Shells fill these requirements exactly.

THOS. F. HEALEY'S BOYS MAKE GOOD SHOWING

A letter from our good friend, Thomas F. Healey, Esq., will interest many of the News readers:

"Suppose that you have been following the results of my football team with great interest. I have had fair success so far this season. I lost to Mt. St. Mary's because of my best men being hurt. In the Hopkins game I was without playing strength in all departments of the game. I had seven of my regular eleven out of the game because of injuries and had no reserve material to replace the injured men. The week of the Hopkins game, say Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, I was unable to hold practice because of all the men being on the injured list. I went to our Director of Sports and advised him of our condition and he was very anxious to call the game off with Hopkins. He then went to the officials of Hopkins and advised him of our true status in regards to injuries and they refused to call off saying that they had made preparations for the game, and would not under any condition release us from our contract to play the game. The contract called for a forfeit of $300 if we failed to play the game. So to save the forfeit and not to get in bad with the football officials at Hopkins, we played the game. I had fellows in the game that did not come out for the team until Thursday of that week, who knew nothing about football, and the result was we were defeated by the score of 87 to 0, as a matter of fact that team could have defeated us 187 to 0, because we were powerless to stop them. We won from the Tank School 20 to 19. I had three of the regulars back and they braced my scoring power, but my line was very weak, having one of my regulars in there. I have four more games to play and to date we won three and lost three games, and if I can break even I will be satisfied. Next season I will be better fortified with material, and if a man gets hurt I will be able to fill his place by a man that will be the equal of the injured man, and under those conditions the team will not suffer.

I suppose things are going along the same as ever in Chestertown, and that things are very quiet in the law business. I do not like to live over here, and I will be glad when the season is over so I can get back among my friends.

I was very sorry to learn of the tragic death of my good friend, Sidney P. Townshend, Esq. He was a man that I held great respect for because of his kind, lovable disposition. In his death Kent county lost a good citizen, his wife a devoted husband, his children a kind, lovable father, who would sacrifice anything he had so they would be happy, and I a good, true friend. His many acts of kindness extended to me in my early praceice of law, have never been forgotten by me. I shall always hold his memory dear to me."

Planning For The Annual Farm Bureau Convention

Annangements are progressing satisfactorily for the annual convention of the Maryland Farm Bureau Federation which will be held next January 7, 8 and 9, at Cambridge, Md. Members of the program committee and others are working like trojans to make this an epoch in the history of the Farm Bureau in Maryland by having the largest possible representation of farmers and their families to attend this meeting on the Eastern Shore.

The various committees are busy setting up the machinery necessary to make the meeting a huge success from every angle and during three-day session Cambridge is going to be the mecca for farmers and Farm Bureau members of the State and particularly of the Eastern Sho'. The sessions will be interesting and will all be open to the public. The usual Farm Bureau banquet will be given on Thursday evening, January 8th, when there will be some good singing and one or two short, snappy addresses.

BIG FOOT BALL HERE ON NOV. 15

Those who have followed the records of the small college football teams of the State this year, have witnessed a decided advance in the calibre of game played.

Western Maryland and Washington College stand out as two of the best. Both have good records, and when they meet on Washington Field, Chestertown, November 15th, one of the best games of the season is expected. Victories over Haverford and P. M. C. show that Washington is dangerous, while the record of Western Md. is the best any small college in the State has made in recent years.

These two have met twice in the past three years, and the result has been a scoreless tie each time. Followers of each team are confident that this will not be so this year. Washington will have the advantage of playing on her own field.

An extra large crowd is being prepared for and supporters of each team will be present in large numbers. Washington College is planning a reunion of all the old alumni from Pennsylvania and Delaware, as well as the Eastern Shore.

The game will be played at 2.30 p. m. Saturday, November 15th, thus giving sufficient time for fans to come from any part of the Shore, and to return after the game.

On November 22nd a second game will be played at Chestertown when Washington College meets Schuykill College, of Reading, Pa. Though not a State game, this contest is creating much interest also. Schuykill is a small college and the two teams should be evenly matched, Washington having a slight advantage.

This will be the last game of the season on the Shore, and every one who can possibly arrange to see it should do so.

TO IMPROVE KENT JAIL

At the recent session of the Circuit Court for Kent county, the Grand Jury reported regarding the general construction of the Kent County Jail as well as the sewerage arrangements. The matter was brought before the Kent County Commissioners who have taken steps to make the needed improvements that will make the jail not only a better place for the sheriff and his family but also a better and safer place for prisoners.

According to plans now being determined upon, the fence on Cross St. will be removed, as well as the outbuildings adjoining. The jail will then be extended in this direction, which will be made into quarters for the sheriff and his family.

The present family quarters of the sheriff will be made into a place of detention for women who are incarcerated.

The cells and other rooms will be made stronger, so that each prisoner can be given separate quarters.

The sewerage arrangements at the jail have always been poor, which has entailed great care and inconvenience upon the sheriff and a condition of affairs beyond the imagination of the ordinary citizen. This condition will be done away with, and the county jail placed on a basis that will be commensurate with the other public affairs of the community.

When completed, the front of the County Jail will be on Cross St., and Sheriff Goodman and family, and his successors in office, will then be allowed the privileges of home life when they are attending to their somewhat arduous duties as preservers of the peace and safety of the county.

Mr. Disney, president, and Mr. Feldon, secretary and treasurer of the Disney Woolen Mills, of Chester, held a conference Wednesday night with the directors of the Chestertown Business Men's Association with a view to establishing large woolen mills in Chestertown to employ between 75 and 100 women and girls. These men want a large amount of capital from local men before starting a factory.
