The County Board of Education has decided to abandon the Turner's Creek School recently destroyed by fire and the seventeen scholars will be divided among the Kennedyville High School. Miss Sarah Ruth, teacher of Turner's Creek School, will be transferred to another school.

Probably the first school bus in the county to become a Sunday School bus has been started in Betterton from Still Pond Neck. The bus which belongs to Herman Crew carries the children to school through the week and is used by Mr. Crew to bring the children to Sunday school. Mr.Crew, Mahlon Taylor and John Price alternate in running it. By this means the children who could not otherwise get to Sunday school can come and the children add greatly to the attendance and interest in the Sunday school. The drivers and adults who come find an interesting lesson and class in Rev. E. M. Shockley's Bible class. Last Sunday there were thirty eight persons present in this class.

Reduction In Electric Lighting Rates In Chestertown

Effective with bills to be sent out December 31, 1924, rates for electric lighting will be reduced 1c per kilowatt hour, according to information received by the News this week.

This reduction is the second made by the company within two years and is made possible by the increased use of electricity by our customers, and the action of the Chestertown Water Board in installing a motor for pumping the city water supply.

It is hoped that additional use of electricity by present and prospective customers will allow them to make further reductions in rates in the future, as they desire to bring rates as low as possible at all times.

New Schedule Of Metered Lighting Rates.

First 50 KWH at 17c gross, 16.15 net.

Next 50 KWH at 16c gross, 15.20c net.

Next 100 KWH at 15c gross, 14.25c net.

Excess over 200 KWH at 14c gross, 13.30c net.

Minimum charge per month $1.25 gross, $1.25 net.

In the future all bills will be mailed customers on or about the first day of each month and the "net rates" will apply only when payment is made on or before the tenth day of the month. Hereafter all bills will be due and payments made by remitting direct to the office of the company.

Kent Countians Attend Inter-State Milk Association

Annual Meeting In Philadelphia Monday One Of The Largest Ever Held —Eastern Shore Milk The Best In The City.

The annual meeting of the Inter-State Milk Producers Association was held in the Adelphi Hotel, Philadelphia, Monday. Much of interest was brought to the attention of the members at the annual meeting. From the speakers who addressed the gathering it was learned that the milk situation is improving, and the prospects for the future are encouraging This is not brought about by any one other than the dairymen themselves.

A few months ago meetings were held in various sections of the Philadelphia milk shed. At these meetings the dairymen were urged not to increase the size of their herds, but to curtail rather than increase the supply of milk. The speakers stated that the dairymen had followed this advice, with the result that the milk situation in Philadelphia has somewhat improved. For a long time more milk was going to the city than there was demand for, and had this condition continued it would have worked to the detriment of the dairy interests.

The banquet on Monday night was limited to five hundred. Many more wanted to attend, but accommodations could not be furnished for more.

Five directors of the association are from the Eastern Shore, and one man who has been attending organizations for a number of years stated that the Inter-State Milk Producers' Association was the best organization of the farmers he had ever seen.

Edward Pennington, of Kent county, is a hold-over director, and with his wife, was present at the meeting.

The locals were represented by William A. Bell and Thos. A. Bryan, Chestertown; Harry Williams, Worton; Edward Wallis and wife of Kennedyville; Mrs. Thos. Bramble, Walter Crow.

The Ladies were entertained by the Dairy Council and held a luncheon in another place from that of the men.

But for the organized efforts of the dairymen at Queen Anne there would not now be any outlet for the milk of that section. Since the trouble which might have resulted in closing the cooling station a few months ago. Queen Anne has been organized 100 per cent. That is, every dairyman now a member of the association.

It was learned at the meeting that 700,000 quarts of milk are consumed in Philadelphia each day. This should be a million quarts and the dealers and producers are spending thousands of dollars in advertising the value of milk as a means of increasing its consumption.

The organization has greatly increased in membership during the past year. From reports read it was seen that the organization now numbers over 20,000 members. During the year 1,700 members were added, some of these in Kent county. This increase does not necessarily mean more milk, for there are some dairymen who are reaping the benefits of the organization while refusing to join trouble there. These new ones have been taking milk to the cooling station for some time during the past but were not members of the association until recently.

One very interesting fact was stated by Mr. Marvel. It is conceded that the milk coming from the Eastern Shore of Maryland is the best that enters Philadelphia. The milk from Pennsylvania and other sections supplying Philadelphia is not up to the standard of the milk produced here. The quality, flavor and color are superior to any other milk shipped to the city. For this reason there seems to be a demand for the Eastern Shore milk in preference to any other.

There is no indication of an increase in the price. At present the Easton Dairymen receive $2.60 a hundred pounds for four per cent milk. This is deducted for hauling the milk from the cooling station to the railroad platform. Nothing was done about building a cooling station on the railroad. Mr. Marvel says the meeting was very interesting, and showed the growing interest of the dairymen.
