Dr. Enoch B. Garey, president of St. John's College, Annapolis, Md., went to Pocomoke City on Monday and was unfortunate enough to fall into the hands of the law. Dr. Garey, parked his car for a few moments alongside the Hotel and left the motor running unattended. A sharp-eyed motor cop soon noticed this violation of auto laws and compelled the owner of the car to accompany him to the magistrate's office, where a fine of $5 and costs was imposed upon the distinguished educator. Dr. Garey realized he had offended, and paid the money without any protest.

We commend the Centerville Observer for its initiation of a plan to carry out in its way the above editorial. Representative farmers, dairymen and business men from every section of Queen Anne's county attended a banquet in Centerville Friday night to sponsor plans for a booth at the Elmonium Fair which would portray the agricultural, commercial, educational and social advantages of this section. The publication of a booklet setting forth in detail the development possibilities in Queen Anne's county and the excellence of its soil also was given consideration. For many years land owners and business men generally have been of the opinion that hundreds of new settlers could be attracted there by advertising the excellence of the county farms and the proximity to the great markets of the East.

MAKING A MOVIE FILM

Gen. T. Coleman DuPont's painted million-dollar steam yacht, The Tech, was rammed by the United States destroyer Coghlan, while anchored off Bloody Point, Kent Island, last Monday morning.

The yacht was loaned to Metro-Goldwyn-Meyer Pictures Corporation, which is filming a play of the Naval Academy life, called Midshipman Sterling.

Commander Mark Hersey of the destroyer had been instructed to run his craft close to the Tech and at full speed. Waiting cameras were to film one of the thrilling scenes in the picture.

As the destroyer came rushing along a seagoing tug on the other side of the yacht shifted its position in the path of the oncoming warship.

There was a crash as the prow of the destroyer collided with the superstructure of the yacht, just back of the bridge. A great deal of the mahogany woodwork on the $1,000,000 yacht was broken to splinters.

Ramon Navarro, star of the film; Commander Jones, of Annapolis, Director William Christy Cabanne, Captain Billsborough of The Tech, and Miss Harriet Hammond, a member of the film cast, were on the yacht Oliver Marsh, cameraman, gave them timely warning and they managed to escape injuries, although all suffered from shock and further filming had to be abandoned.

The Metro-Goldwyn-Meyer Corporation has assumed all responsibility for the accident and will restore the yacht in its original condition.

DEATHS

Mrs. Charlotte E. Blakeney, widow of the late William H. Blakeney, formerly of Chestertown, died at the home of her son, Frederick C. Blakeney 1625 East Oliver street, Baltimore, on Saturday, June 6th, aged 82 years.

Funeral services were held from her residence on Monday at 1 p. m., after which the remains were brought to Chestertown via Tolchester and funeral service was held yesterday (Tuesday) morning at 10 a. m., conducted by Rev. N. O. Gibson.

The deceased was a good woman, a kind and thoughtful neighbor, a faithful wife, a sacrificing mother and a doer of his word. She and her late husband were the kind of people who enrich any community.

The pall bearers were Messrs. George and William Burk, Fred G. Geilston, Jefferson D. Baches, Charles N. Satterfield and C. L. Dodd; C. L. Satter, undertaker, in charge of funeral arrangements.

Mrs. Sadi Hadaway Fletcher, wife of Capt. Herbert U. Fletcher, died at her home in Broad Neck, last Friday afternoon, at one o'clock, after a brief illness of tuberculosis.

Mrs. Fletcher had been in poor health for a number of years and in the early spring she contracted quite a severe case of grip, from which she had partially recovered and was thought to be on the road to recovery when a rapid case of tuberculosis developed forcing her to take to her bed less than three weeks ago. During the long period of time which she had been a sufferer of stomach trouble and other maladies to which the female sex are susceptible she had borne the pain with christian fortitude.

Since early childhood she had been active in the affairs of Kesley Chapel, the church of the community in which she was born and reared. That she was loved by a wide circle of friends and acquaintances was attested by the large cortege that paid a last tribute at the funeral which was held from her late residence Sunday afternoon at which Rev. Dorsey officiated, with interment in Kesley cemetery. The pall bearers being Jas. Taylor, Ruthin Strong, Chas. M. and John T. Vickers, J. Raymond Lusby and Edward Greenwood.

Undertaker Charles L. Dodd in charge.

Besides her husband, her mother, Mrs. Mary E. Hadaway, one sister, Mrs. Milton R. Crew, of Wilmington, one brother, Howard W. Hadaway and the following children, Hettie Frank, Paul, Howard and Herbert, survive, who have the sympathy of the entire community.

Daisy B. Crew, daughter of late J. Lewin and Harriett Crew, fell asleep in Jesus at the home of her sister, Mrs. Ernest Horsey, of Betterton, on Saturday morning, June 6.

Funeral services were held from her late residence on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. E. M. Shockley officiating, interment in Still Pond Cemetery.

In early life Miss Daisy became associated with the well-known department store of Hochschild, Kohn, Baltimore City, and in a short time thru industry and efficiency she had risen at the head of one of its departments. In this capacity she served for a number of years.

Because of poor health she was compelled a few years ago to resign her position with this firm, and with a beautiful submissiveness, and sublime faith in God's wisdom, she laid down her work.

Devoted sisters and brothers ministered to her wants and comfort during her illness; not a wish was ungranted. Kind and loving friends deemed it a privilege to wait upon her and be in her presence. She never uttered a word of complaint; thoughtfulness of the comfort and well-fare of others characterized her every act and speech.

The influence exerted; the beautiful example of confidence and trust displayed was an inspiration to all with whom she came in contact.

When a capable and useful person is stricken in the prime of life, and taken from the ranks of workers even she has reached the allotted span, the oft-recurring question presents itself—why should this be? and away down the ages we seem to hear the answer—"What I do thou knowest not now, but thou shalt know hereafter."

The lives of some people are outstanding; they radiate the purity and beauty of the meek and lowly Jesus, and such a one was this.

If we but trust Him and are willing to be led and guided by his unerring hand, some day the mists will roll away and we shall behold the King in all His beauty and then, he'll make every thing plain to us.

We'll catch the broken threads again and finish what we here began. Heaven will the mysteries explain. And then up there, we'll understand.

The pall bearers were Leonard Crew, Clayton Crew, Jr., Arthur Burris, Lewin Burris, Earl Parsons Clayton Crew. B. R. Fellows, undertaker.

Mrs. Margaret Patterson Finley, daughter of the late Judge Richard Grason and Sally Ridgely Grason, died at Union Memorial Hospital, Baltimore, on Wednesday, June 3rd. Funeral services were held at the chapel in Greenmount cemetery, June 5th, at 4 o. m. Mrs. Finley spent the early part of her married life near Church Hill and later resided in Chestertown. For a number of years at the time of her death she was employed at McDonah School for boys, which position she has held for a number of years. She leaves one son, Harrison Finley.

Suddenly on June 5th, 1925, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. R. H. Hicks, Baltimore, Md., Mrs. Sarah A. Nutz died, aged 90 years and five months. Interment in the Cooper burying ground at her former home in Talbot Co., on Sunday last. Mrs. W. T. Hicks, of Chestertown, is the only surviving sister, of a family of nine girls.

Corsica River claimed its first victim of the summer at Picnic Point, near Centerville, Monday afternoon, when Leander Langrill, popular little 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Elmer Langrill, was drowned. Accompanied by several lads of about his own age, he was diving from a boat, when he suddenly sank and did not come to the surface until his body was rescued by other boys who came to his assistance.
