AILMENTS OF YOUNG GIRLS

Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound
School Teacher's Experience

Evanston, Wyoming.—"A few years ago I had troubles every month such as cramps, dizziness, and would suffer awfully every time. I was teaching school and it made it hard for me as I had to go to bed for two or three days. One day my mother suggested that I take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which I did, and it did wonders for me. In the course of a year I married and after my first baby was born I got up too soon and it caused a displacement. This troubled me so that I could hardly walk or do my housework. I knew what the Vegetable Compound did for me before so I took it again. It strengthened me and now I have five little kiddies. The eldest is six, the baby is five months old and I have twin boys three years old and a boy of five years. I do all my own housework, washing and ironing, and I never felt better in my life. I owe my health to your wonderful medicine and I recommend it to all my friends."
Mrs. VERENA CARPENTER, 127 2nd Avenue, Evanston, Wyoming.

7000 MILES FROM HOME

The field vice-president of Washington College, Maryland, and his party of twenty-five students are now at the most easterly end of their foreign tour. Dr. Perry's seventh article, dated from Damascus, states in part, "I have now reached the extreme eastern end of my trip, with seven hours' difference in time and seven thousand miles between me and home. It is Sunday afternoon and nature insists on a siesta. The foreigner has no business on the street between twelve and four o'clock P. M. The sun is on a rampage. At five o'clock I go out for a drive to get a view of the moon on Mount Hermon, twenty miles south west. Tomorrow morning I leave for the Sea of Galilee. Altho but 123 miles south and west, yet the distance requires an eight hour journey by train and a descent of then 2268 feet above sea level. Some folks go by auto but since the road is unfinished in spots I decided to depend upon the train. In Syria thus far I have used eight autos for my party: one Moon, three Chandelers, two Chevrolts with balloon tires. Tomorrow we have our first train ride in this country. Last evening I saw the open cars are universal, including, of course, the omnipresent Ford touring car. These are heard, seen and felt everywhere. The Ford touring costs $750; a Buick touring, over $2000.

On the desert journeys from Damascus to Bagdad the Cadillac is the best car for motoring. It has extra containers on the fenders, also, holding thirty gallons of gas. Cheer up, O, ye Americans! Gasoline sells for seventy-five cents in Syria! These Cadillacs make this run of 600 miles in twenty-four hours, leaving Damascus every Friday morning and arriving Saturday morning in Bagdad. The fare one way, including meals, is $150. I saw the last auto leave with three passengers and plenty of expressage. Babylon is but 60 miles north and east of Bagdad and I presume I shall soon be including these outposts in our regular tours. I am not anxious to go just yet.

The motor car is revolutionizing the Near East. Wonderful roads, wider streets and better hotels are some of the more beneficent results of the auto invasion. Then, too, Henry Ford should be made an honorary member of the S. P. C. A. How the beasts of burden suffer! Loading a camel on his knees forces him to carry 700 pounds. While standing he may be loaded up to 100 pounds. And as for the donkey or, more appropriately, the ass; there seems to be no limit to his endurance. And yet, even he fails. We frequently see one left in the ditch to die or one that has already drawn his last breath. It appears that everybody has a donkey. They can be bought for ten or fifteen dollars and they endure patiently all sorts of hardship. I, for one, shall be glad when I see them no longer beasts of burden. In Camel caravans the donkeys escape more easily, for the leader of the vans loads the camels to their limit; ties them together in single file and he, with his donkey, leads the procession. I hate to see any sort of animal abused and this hatred leaves an unpleasant personal reaction to such a trip as I am now making. But the auto will win. The American makes are everywhere; the Fiat, an Italian car, being the only competitor. I do not see where the native find the money to buy autos but that is equally astounding in the States!

Poverty abounds in this country. The sort of clothes that we cast off gladly the natives would accept as their best. The women dress in plain black with the Turkish black to cover the head and sometimes the face. In Constantinople we saw very few veiled women but here at least half of them appear in public with the face covered. Damascus, however, is the leading Mohammedan city in the world and they are orthodox Mohammedans at that.

I hear the muezzin in the minaret calling for prayer and so I shall cease writing.
